Kaesong Talks Snagged Again

Poughkeepsie Pair Held in Seizure Of 8 in Paterson

Brunette Undergoing Operation Also Is Held by Police in Jersey

Paterson, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—Eight persons, including a 24-year-old brunette undergoing an operation, were arrested today in raids which police said smashed a $2,500-a-day abortion ring.

State police and Bergen and Passaic county detectives staged the pre-dawn raids on two private homes here. One of the homes was the scene of a 1949 "striptease holdup."

Jasper Kirschner, of the Passaic county prosecutor's office, said Miss Rosa Descalzi, of 380 Riverside drive, New York city, was undergoing an operation at 15 Lakeview avenue here when the place was raided. He said $300 she had paid for the operation was confiscated.

Also raided was the home of Eugene R. Pometti, alias "Dr." Eugene R. Lamont, at 100 Lakeview avenue. During a burglary in 1949 Pometti's pretty blonde wife, Maysel, was forced to partially disrobe by gunmen.

Poughkeepsians Held

Those arrested in the two raids besides Pometti and Miss Descalzi were Emil De Grezio, of 200 Lincoln avenue, Barney Bragman and his wife, Margaret, of 15 Lakeview avenue, Irving Golden and his wife, Rose, of 7 Franklin street, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Miss Helen Virginia Campbell, Pometti's maid.

Kirschner said Pometti and De Grezio allegedly charged from $250 to $500 for an operation, and the Bragmans were paid $50 for the use of their home for an operation.

Police estimated the group cleared from $1,000 to $2,500 a day.

Pometti and De Grazio were held in $10,000 bail each on charges of conspiracy to commit abortion. The Bragmans were held in $5,000 bail each on the same charge.

The Goldens were held in $2,500 bail each, and Miss Campbell and Miss Descalzi in $1,000 bail each, all as material witnesses.

Six months after his wife was forced by bandits to shed her clothes, another attempt was made on Pometti's home by burglars. During the second holdup police shot and killed Vincent Avolina of Woodhaven, N. Y.

IPR Is Described As Red Front Unit

Elizabeth Bentley Reports on Description Given by Agent

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Elizabeth Bentley, who says she is a former Communist spy, testified today that the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR) "was a Communist front organization of a sort."

She told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that IPR was described to her once by a fellow Communist espionage agent as "one of our organizations" and "under our control."

But, she added, Russian agent Jacob Golos, who was her boss, also told her once that "IPR is operating far too loosely" and as a result was making "many blunders."

The IPR is a private organization which was formed in the 1920s with the declared purpose of promoting study of Far Eastern problems. Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.), who heads Senate subcommittee, contends the IPR has been used extensively by Communists to influence U. S. Far Eastern policy. The organization denies this.

Miss Bentley has been a frequent witness at the capitol for several years, testifying at most of the congressional hearings dealing with subversive activities.

Now in her 40s, her story is that she fell in love with Golos and became a courier for a Communist spy ring.

Miss Bentley told the subcommittee that she succeeded to most of Golos' duties as a top spy after his death of a heart attack in 1943.

Speaking in a low voice that at times got almost lost in the big, crowded hearing room, Miss Bentley told of engineering access to secrets of the Office of Strategic Services (OSS), U. S. war-time espionage agency.

She said she arranged for the transfer of Duncan Lee, whom she described as a "New York lawyer," from the IPR staff to OSS, from which post she said, he fed the spy group information and "was one of our most valuable workers."

"He was frightened to death of what he was doing," she said, and sometimes wrote his messages on scraps of paper which were slipped to couriers.

Miss Bentley, in her story of spying on the OSS, said Lee became an assistant to Maj. Gen. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan, head of OSS.

Lee, she said, paid dues as a member of the Communist party directly to her, and "quite definitely was a member."

She said her own career as a Communist started in 1935, and that "I went underground" to work as a spy courier and spy two and a half years later.

Frank A. Dodaro Is Identified at Seattle by Officials

Military authorities early today identified the third air force man killed at Seattle, Wash., when a B-50 bomber plunged into an apartment house yesterday, as M/Sgt. Frank A. Dodaro, 35 of 57 Elizabeth street, Kingston.

Charred, smoldering rubble and melted metal marked the pyre today where at least 11 persons were consumed in gasoline-fed flames spewed out from the crashed bomber, the Associated Press said.

Sgt. Dodaro, a native of the Margaretville area of Delaware county, had maintained the local address while he was in the service. It is the home of a sister, Mrs. Gerard Hawkins.

Six Were Crewmen

Six of the dead were members of the plane's crew—three air force men and three flight analysts from the nearby Boeing Airplane Company, maker of the B-50. The other five known victims were dwellers in the 49-unit apartment house whose entire north end was destroyed.

Sgt. Dodaro, who was the flight engineer, had been a first lieutenant in World War 2, piloted planes in the South Pacific theatre, his sister said. He had served four years in the navy prior to that and had been employed for a time by Curtiss-Wright on the west coast. He had been engaged in test work at the Boeing aircraft plant recently. He is a graduate of Margaretville High School.

His Mother Survives

Besides his sister, Mrs. Hawkins, in this city, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Dodaro, of Shavertown; a brother, Julius Dodaro, of Shavertown; and a sister, Virginia, of Brooklyn. He was not married.

The AP report from Seattle said that those who survived the plane crash remembered the hot breath of death that swept through the hillside apartment house into which the medium bomber plunged moments after

Police Chief Cites Law On Raffle Advertising

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, yesterday issued orders to department members that the advertising of raffles in the city is unlawful and must be stopped.

The chief noted that two cars advertising a raffle had appeared on city streets. This, he said, is a violation of the law and must be stopped. He ordered the department personnel to order such cars off the streets, and if they refuse, to arrest them.

Estimate Is Reds Hold 4500 Yanks

Prisoners at Kanggye, Military Sources Say; All Nations Figure Is Given as 10,000

Caution Is Policy

Allies Say Little About Treatment, for Fear of Hurting Men

San Francisco, Aug. 14 (AP)—Unofficial estimates indicated today that, of the 10,624 Americans officially listed as missing in action in Korea, as many as 4,500 probably are being held in Communist war prisoner camps.

This figure comes from allied military sources which cannot be named but which are in as good position as anyone on the allied side to know the score on this hush-hush matter.

The prisoners are said to be confined near Kanggye, deep inside North Korea about 20 air miles from the Manchurian frontier.

Reliable information reaching allied authorities said Chinese Red leaders do not want allied prisoners transferred to Chinese soil. To do so would destroy the Communist contention that only Chinese "volunteers" are fighting in Korea.

The number of American and other UN prisoners never has been announced by the Reds. Allied sources estimate the total number at approximately 10,000.

Carries 1,000 Names

The Communist Peiping radio has carried over a period of months the names of approximately 1,000 Americans it has said were being held in Korea. The Red radio released the names of a few at a time in propaganda broadcasts from January through early July. There have been numerous duplications.

Invariably the broadcasts, purporting to be messages written by the prisoners themselves, stressed that the men were being well treated. Most of the "messages" urged that foreign troops be withdrawn from Korea so the war could end.

Since the Kaesong military armistice conference opened July 10, and the question of troop withdrawals was deferred until a later conference at a higher level, the Red radio has made no further broadcasts of prisoner messages.

Have Said Little

Allied authorities have said little about the treatment of prisoners for fear that a chance remark might anger the Reds and make life harder for the prisoners.

Even men who have escaped from the Reds, or have been liberated, have been cautioned not to say anything that might react against their comrades.

However, a group of 18 marines who escaped last April on the central front confirmed that prisoners were fed the same food as Communist troops and were given medical attention.

Marine Maj. Andrew Geer of San Francisco, who conducted the freed marines back to the U. S. from Korea, said in an interview that the men reported they were well cared for, by Chinese standards.

The apparent purpose for this good care was to weaken the resistance of hard-fighting allied troops and make them surrender more easily. If it became known that the Communists were "easy" on their captives, the Reds reasoned that the enemy would not fight so hard to avoid capture.

Before releasing a group of men the Communists require them to attend "school" eight hours a day for indoctrination courses on communism.

County Will Receive $100,000 From State

Ulster county will receive $100,370.16 as per capita assistance, according to State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern, who said that checks are now being mailed to the cities, towns and villages.

The full payment for the state will be $20,835,476.48. This is the second payment of per capita aid in the state's 1951-52 fiscal year. The total of this type of assistance to be distributed during the year is $83,563,411.73.

Hill Warns Reds Might Surprise U. S. With Attack

Onslaught Might Come as Result of Soviet Over-Optimism, He Says

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Senator Hill (D-Ala.) has warned the Senate there is "great danger" Russia might become over-optimistic and launch a surprise atomic attack on America.

This warning was pointed up by Senate information that Russia has out-stripped the U. S. in pilots and planes and has a 20,000-plane air forces and a 4,000,000-man ground force.

These estimates of Soviet strength were contained in a staff memo covering highlights of recent conferences in Paris between a nine-member Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and members of his staff.

The memo, which bore no official stamp and originally was intended to be confidential, said Russia's 20,000 aircraft "all are in better shape than a few years ago."

It said Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, North Atlantic Treaty organization air commander, emphasized the "very substantial" superiority of Russian air strength in Europe over that of the Allies.

Must Increase Efforts

Hill told his colleagues the military appropriations sub-committee of which he is a member had been informed the Russians may outstrip total American military power "unless we increase our efforts."

Meantime, Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Grunther, Eisenhower's chief of staff, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee that the participation of Western Germany is "very close to being a must" in any successful defense of Western Europe.

Gruenther's testimony was made public yesterday. He appeared before the House committee recently in closed door session.

Gruenther said no planning is going ahead on the assumption Western Germany will be brought into active partnership. He also expressed belief that an attack by Russia and her satellites on Yugoslavia might well touch off world war three.

Would Be Only Part

Gruenther, who was General Mark Clark's chief of staff in World War two, said he believes that a satellite attack in Europe would be only part of a general offensive by the Russians against Western Europe.

"If they (the Russians) decided to attack," he said, "they may have a satellite take on a certain sector, Yugoslavia very definitely being one such sector. But I gave it as my view (earlier in his testimony) that I did not think that the Soviet would be able to get by with another attack while everybody stood by and said 'let them fight it out.'"

At the moment, Gruenther

Americans Expect Russians to Quit Peace Conference

Money Is Called Europe's Problem In Defense Plan

Eisenhower Says Men Are Called, Trained Faster Than Arms Are Supplied

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Europe's major defense problem is money, not manpower, the House Foreign Affairs Committee said today in support of a $7,848,750,000 foreign-aid program.

In a formal report to the House, the committee quoted General Eisenhower, head of western Europe defense armies, as saying that "men were being called up and trained faster than equipment was arriving."

"Manpower is not the bottleneck in developing European defense," the committee said. "The limiting factors are equipment and money . . . General Eisenhower was emphatic on this point."

What's needed, the committee emphasized, is American financial help until the free nations of the world are in a position to pay for their own defenses.

Is Not Program

But, it warned, the foreign-aid program is "not a program under which we will carry the rest of the world on our backs . . . it is the plan of the program that United States assistance to western European self-help will enable our friends in that area to hold the line themselves soon."

The program approved by the committee calls for $651,250,000 less than the $8,500,000,000 asked by President Truman.

A Republican-sponsored move was under way in the Senate to trim the administration request by 15 per cent. Some Democrats labelled that too drastic.

No Time to Spare

The House group declared "there is no time to spare" in building up defenses even though military experts, including Eisenhower, believe that "we have sufficient time for better preparation." The report added:

"Russia apparently fears our superiority in atomic warfare. The Russian Army is ready and could get into action in a short time. It could undoubtedly overrun a considerable territory under present conditions.

"Nevertheless, the Soviet government has to take into account the likelihood that the destruction of their major cities and industries would occur immediately. Furthermore, their lines of communication with western Europe would run through peoples increasingly restless and hostile."

Would Be Stronger

While "the immediate advantage in a conflict today would be with Russia," the committee said, "nevertheless, the United States would be stronger two years hence than now and any war would be a long war."

The committee said it heard in secret session details of a "series of plans which, if put into effect, should deter Soviet aggression or defeat it if launched."

Within another year, the committee said, money should cease to be the bottleneck in European rearmament, with enough European money on hand to pay for

Anticipation Is Reds Will Use Event as Propaganda Affair

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—American officials expect Russian delegates to walk out of the 50-nation Japanese Peace Conference after staging a spectacular propaganda show to emphasize Moscow's opposition.

These officials expressed confidence to a reporter that Russia's denunciation would not succeed in blocking the signing of a peace treaty by an overwhelming majority of other countries.

The United States is ready to sign without Russia, if necessary, said these officials who may not be quoted by name.

Secretary of State Acheson, they hinted, may have a trick or two up his sleeve to curb the anticipated Russian propaganda filibuster, if it threatens to drag on indefinitely.

Moscow's delegates, headed by acting Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, have promised to show up in San Francisco Sept. 4 for the opening of what was planned as a five-day conference.

Three Others To Assist

Assisting him will be three other of Russia's more noted conference orators — Alexander S. Panyushkin, ambassador to the United States; Georgi N. Zarubin, ambassador to London; and S. A. Golunski, Russian foreign office legal chief and former judge at the Tokyo war crimes trials.

State Department officials consider it a top-flight delegation.

Department officials look for Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland, the only Russian satellites invited, to follow Moscow's lead

Frey Is Elected By Local Group

Harry du Bois Frey, general manager of the Freeman Publishing Company, was elected treasurer of Kingston's 300th Anniversary at a meeting of the citizens committee on Monday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Harry Rigby, Jr., temporary chairman, presided at the meeting, during which an organizational outline comprising about 20 committees was adopted. Several of the committees, such as the historical pageant committee, will have several sub-committees. Mrs. Raymond R. Gross was named to prepare a script for the pageant.

Acceptances to various committee appointments will be announced as received. Rigby stated that, with the adoption of the basic organization plan, the enlisting of further volunteers will continue.

Rigby and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, reported on trips to New York on August 7 and to Norwalk, Conn. At New York, they held preliminary conferences with Dr. Willem Cnoop-Koopmans, Dutch counsel general; William Wilfred L. Thomas, British counsel general, and the office of the Associated Bulb Growers of Holland, all of whom expressed willingness to cooperate in the planning and execution of Kingston's anniversary. Norwalk, Conn., is this year celebrating its 300th anniversary and numerous suggestions were brought back by Rigby and Kurdt, who witnessed the Norwalk pageant.

Allied Air, Sea Power Issue Now

Says Foe 'Hurts'

Communists Are in Bad Shape, UN General Says

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 14—Kaesong aristice talks snagged today on an argument over the importance of allied air and naval supremacy.

If cease-fire negotiations break down, the United Nations Ground Commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, said his troops are ready to "clobber" the Reds.

In Tokyo Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN supreme commander, said the Reds have been steadily building up and are in a materially better position to attack than they were when truce talks started July 10.

Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army, commented:

"The military feels we would like to have the opportunity to meet the Communists, if they attack. It would be a real clobber.

"I don't know of a better way to get it over faster.

"The enemy is hurting. He is in bad shape. He needs peace."

Van Fleet's opinion of the ability of the 8th Army to meet a Red onslaught coincided with views expressed by Ridgway, when the top allied commander told about the Red build-up.

Not Inflexible

Ridgway said the UN position was not inflexible, but that his troops must have a defensible position during a truce approximately along their present battle line. He said the UN won't go back to the 38th Parallel, where the Reds want to set up a buffer zone.

At Kaesong, just before negotiators adjourned until Wednesday, North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, top Red envoy, wound up Tuesday's two-hour and 40-minute session by announcing the Red demand for a truce on the old political boundary line is unshakable.

It was the demilitarized zone deadlock which generated the argument at Kaesong over UN air and navy might.

Vice Adm. C. Turney Joy, head of the UN delegation, told the Reds that allied planes and warships "are prosecuting a war behind your front lines which is not duplicated behind our lines."

Reply to Attack

A UN spokesman said this was a reply to a one-hour and 13-minute attack by General Nam attempting to "discredit the independent effectiveness of air and naval power which the UN command would relinquish in an armistice."

In one breath the North Korean said they weren't doing much good and in the next he said the Reds would run UN troops out of Korea except for allied planes and warships.

The spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, who attended the session, said Nam's speech was sprinkled with such words as "irresponsible," "belligerent," "abusive," and "intolerable."

Nuckols said Joy, in a one hour and six-minute reply, emphasized air and naval power in an effort to convince the Reds of the reasonableness of the UN proposals for a demilitarized zone along approximately the present battle lines.

Shortest Communique

Reflecting the day's lack of progress, the UN communique was the shortest since talks began July 10. It ran only 69 words.

Nuckols said Nam again insisted the Red demand for a buffer zone along the 38th Parallel was just and reasonable."

While Joy and Nam argued in the sweltering heat of Kaesong, Ridgway told a news conference in Tokyo:

"The line we propose is the line now generally held by the United Nations forces. It is a military line, devoid of political implications, and the general line along which our forces now stand facing north."

He did not indicate the depth of a buffer zone he wants.

Communist negotiators say he wants the demilitarized zone to

State Police Conference Opens White Plains Sessions

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 14—Delegates to the New York State Police Conference want a 40-hour work week and higher wages, but without unionization by major labor organizations.

Some 500 policemen registered yesterday at the opening session of the annual convention of the State's Police Benevolent Associations. There are 194 PBA units.

John E. Carton, New York city PBA president and conference head, told the delegates "policemen want the PBA and the PBA only."

Carton assailed Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO Transport Workers, who have been trying to bring the police into his union.

Quill has been battling New York City Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan, who last week ordered police to stay out of a union or face disciplinary action. Monaghan's edict has the support of Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

In a greeting speech to the PBA delegates, Carton said:

"The parade has passed by and Quill doesn't know it. The New Yory city PBA delegates have already voted to reject Quillism and to stand by the PBA."

In a banquet address, although not mentioning Quill by name, Carton said, "if this political opportunist were successful in organizing the police of New York city, he would then attempt to organize police in New York state and throughout the nation.

"If he were successful in this,

San Francisco, Aug. 14 (AP)—Unofficial estimates indicated today that, of the 10,624 Americans officially listed as missing in action in Korea, as many as 4,500 probably are being held in Communist war prisoner camps.

This figure comes from allied military sources which cannot be named but which are in as good position as anyone on the allied side to know the score on this hush-hush matter.

The prisoners are said to be confined near Kanggye, deep inside North Korea about 20 air miles from the Manchurian frontier.

Reliable information reaching allied authorities said Chinese Red leaders do not want allied prisoners transferred to Chinese soil. To do so would destroy the Communist contention that only Chinese "volunteers" are fighting in Korea.

The number of American and other UN prisoners never has been announced by the Reds. Allied sources estimate the total number at approximately 10,000.

Carries 1,000 Names

The Communist Peiping radio has carried over a period of months the names of approximately 1,000 Americans it has said were being held in Korea. The Red radio released the names of a few at a time in propaganda broadcasts from January through early July. There have been numerous duplications.

Invariably the broadcasts, purporting to be messages written by the prisoners themselves, stressed that the men were being well treated. Most of the "messages" urged that foreign troops be withdrawn from Korea so the war could end.

Since the Kaesong military armistice conference opened July 10, and the question of troop withdrawals was deferred until a later conference at a higher level, the Red radio has made no further broadcasts of prisoner messages.

Have Said Little

Allied authorities have said little about the treatment of prisoners for fear that a chance remark might anger the Reds and make life harder for the prisoners.

Even men who have escaped from the Reds, or have been liberated, have been cautioned not to say anything that might react against their comrades.

However, a group of 18 marines who escaped last April on the central front confirmed that prisoners were fed the same food as Communist troops and were given medical attention.

Marine Maj. Andrew Geer of San Francisco, who conducted the freed marines back to the U. S. from Korea, said in an interview that the men reported they were well cared for, by Chinese standards.

The apparent purpose for this good care was to weaken the resistance of hard-fighting allied troops and make them surrender more easily. If it became known that the Communists were "easy" on their captives, the Reds reasoned that the enemy would not fight so hard to avoid capture.

Before releasing a group of men the Communists require them to attend "school" eight hours a day for indoctrination courses on communism.

Hill Warns Reds Might Surprise U. S. With Attack

Onslaught Might Come as Result of Soviet Over-Optimism, He Says

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Senator Hill (D-Ala.) has warned the Senate there is "great danger" Russia might become over-optimistic and launch a surprise atomic attack on America.

This warning was pointed up by Senate information that Russia has out-stripped the U. S. in pilots and planes and has a 20,000-plane air forces and a 3,000,000-man ground force.

These estimates of Soviet strength were contained in a staff memo covering highlights of recent conferences in Paris between a nine-member Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and members of his staff.

The memo, which bore no official stamp and originally was intended to be confidential, said Russia's 20,000 aircraft "all are in better shape than a few years ago."

It said Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, North Atlantic Treaty organization air commander, emphasized the "very substantial" superiority of Russian air strength in Europe over that of the Allies.

Must Increase Efforts

Hill told his colleagues the military appropriations sub-committee of which he is a member had been informed the Russians may outstrip total American military power "unless we increase our efforts."

Meantime, Lt. Gen. Alfred M. Grunther, Eisenhower's chief of staff, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee that the participation of Western Germany is "very close to being a must" in any successful defense of Western Europe.

Gruenther's testimony was made public yesterday. He appeared before the House committee recently in closed door session.

Gruenther said no planning is going ahead on the assumption Western Germany will be brought into active partnership. He also expressed belief that an attack by Russia and her satellites on Yugoslavia might well touch off world war three.

Would Be Only Part

Gruenther, who was General Mark Clark's chief of staff in World War two, said he believes that a satellite attack in Europe would be only part of a general offensive by the Russians against Western Europe.

"If they (the Russians) decided to attack," he said, "they may have a satellite take on a certain sector, Yugoslavia very definitely being one such sector. But I gave it as my view (earlier in his testimony) that I did not think that the Soviet would be able to get by with another attack while everybody stood by and said 'let them fight it out.'"

At the moment, Gruenther

Money Is Called Europe's Problem In Defense Plan

Eisenhower Says Men Are Called, Trained Faster Than Arms Are Supplied

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Europe's major defense problem is money, not manpower, the House Foreign Affairs Committee said today in support of a $7,848,750,000 foreign-aid program.

In a formal report to the House, the committee quoted General Eisenhower, head of western Europe defense armies, as saying that "men were being called up and trained faster than equipment was arriving."

"Manpower is not the bottleneck in developing European defense," the committee said. "The limiting factors are equipment and money . . . General Eisenhower was emphatic on this point."

What's needed, the committee emphasized, is American financial help until the free nations of the world are in a position to pay for their own defenses.

Is Not Program

But, it warned, the foreign-aid program is "not a program under which we will carry the rest of the world on our backs . . . it is the plan of the program that United States assistance to western European self-help will enable our friends in that area to hold the line themselves soon."

The program approved by the committee calls for $651,250,000 less than the $8,500,000,000 asked by President Truman.

A Republican-sponsored move was under way in the Senate to trim the administration request by 15 per cent. Some Democrats labelled that too drastic.

No Time to Spare

The House group declared "there is no time to spare" in building up defenses even though military experts, including Eisenhower, believe that "we have sufficient time for better preparation." The report added:

"Russia apparently fears our superiority in atomic warfare. The Russian Army is ready and could get into action in a short time. It could undoubtedly overrun a considerable territory under present conditions.

"Nevertheless, the Soviet government has to take into account the likelihood that the destruction of their major cities and industries would occur immediately. Furthermore, their lines of communication with western Europe would run through peoples increasingly restless and hostile."

Would Be Stronger

While "the immediate advantage in a conflict today would be with Russia," the committee said, "nevertheless, the United States would be stronger two years hence than now and any war would be a long war."

The committee said it heard in secret session details of a "series of plans which, if put into effect, should deter Soviet aggression or defeat it if launched."

Within another year, the committee said, money should cease to be the bottleneck in European rearmament, with enough European money on hand to pay for

Anticipation Is Reds Will Use Event as Propaganda Affair

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—American officials expect Russian delegates to walk out of the 50-nation Japanese Peace Conference after staging a spectacular propaganda show to emphasize Moscow's opposition.

These officials expressed confidence to a reporter that Russia's denunciation would not succeed in blocking the signing of a peace treaty by an overwhelming majority of other countries.

The United States is ready to sign without Russia, if necessary, said these officials who may not be quoted by name.

Secretary of State Acheson, they hinted, may have a trick or two up his sleeve to curb the anticipated Russian propaganda filibuster, if it threatens to drag on indefinitely.

Moscow's delegates, headed by acting Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, have promised to show up in San Francisco Sept. 4 for the opening of what was planned as a five-day conference.

Three Others To Assist

Assisting him will be three other of Russia's more noted conference orators — Alexander S. Panyushkin, ambassador to the United States; Georgi N. Zarubin, ambassador to London; and S. A. Golunski, Russian foreign office legal chief and former judge at the Tokyo war crimes trials.

State Department officials consider it a top-flight delegation.

Department officials look for Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland, the only Russian satellites invited, to follow Moscow's lead

Frey Is Elected By Local Group

Harry du Bois Frey, general manager of the Freeman Publishing Company, was elected treasurer of Kingston's 300th Anniversary at a meeting of the citizens committee on Monday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Harry Rigby, Jr., temporary chairman, presided at the meeting, during which an organizational outline comprising about 20 committees was adopted. Several of the committees, such as the historical pageant committee, will have several sub-committees. Mrs. Raymond R. Gross was named to prepare a script for the pageant.

Acceptances to various committee appointments will be announced as received. Rigby stated that, with the adoption of the basic organization plan, the enlisting of further volunteers will continue.

Rigby and Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, reported on trips to New York on August 7 and to Norwalk, Conn. At New York, they held preliminary conferences with Dr. Willem Cnoop-Koopmans, Dutch counsel general; William Wilfred L. Thomas, British counsel general, and the office of the Associated Bulb Growers of Holland, all of whom expressed willingness to cooperate in the planning and execution of Kingston's anniversary. Norwalk, Conn., is this year celebrating its 300th anniversary and numerous suggestions were brought back by Rigby and Kurdt, who witnessed the Norwalk pageant.

Allied Air, Sea Power Issue Now

Says Foe 'Hurts'

Communists Are in Bad Shape, U N General Says

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 14—Kaesong aristice talks snagged today on an argument over the importance of allied air and naval supremacy.

If cease-fire negotiations break down, the United Nations Ground Commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, said his troops are ready to "clobber" the Reds.

In Tokyo Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, UN supreme commander, said the Reds have been steadily building up and are in a materially better position to attack than they were when truce talks started July 10.

Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army, commented:

"The military feels we would like to have the opportunity to meet the Communists, if they attack. It would be a real clobber.

"I don't know of a better way to get it over faster.

"The enemy is hurting. He is in bad shape. He needs peace."

Van Fleet's opinion of the ability of the 8th Army to meet a Red onslaught coincided with views expressed by Ridgway, when the top allied commander told about the Red build-up.

Not Inflexible

Ridgway said the UN position was not inflexible, but that his troops must have a defensible position during a truce approximately along their present battle line. He said the UN won't go back to the 38th Parallel, where the Reds want to set up a buffer zone.

At Kaesong, just before negotiators adjourned until Wednesday, North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il, top Red envoy, wound up Tuesday's two-hour and 40-minute session by announcing the Red demand for a truce on the old political boundary line is unshakable.

It was the demilitarized zone deadlock which generated the argument at Kaesong over UN air and navy might.

Vice Adm. C. Turney Joy, head of the UN delegation, told the Reds that allied planes and warships "are prosecuting a war behind your front lines which is not duplicated behind our lines."

Reply to Attack

A UN spokesman said this was a reply to a one-hour and 13-minute attack by General Nam attempting to "discredit the independent effectiveness of air and naval power which the UN command would relinquish in an armistice."

In one breath the North Korean said they weren't doing much good and in the next he said the Reds would run UN troops out of Korea except for allied planes and warships.

The spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, who attended the session, said Nam's speech was sprinkled with such words as "irresponsible," "belligerent," "abusive," and "intolerable."

Nuckols said Joy, in a one hour and six-minute reply, emphasized air and naval power in an effort to convince the Reds of the reasonableness of the UN proposals for a demilitarized zone along approximately the present battle lines.

Shortest Communique

Reflecting the day's lack of progress, the UN communique was the shortest since talks began July 10. It ran only 69 words.

Nuckols said Nam again insisted the Red demand for a buffer zone along the 38th Parallel was just and reasonable."

While Joy and Nam argued in the sweltering heat of Kaesong, Ridgway told a news conference in Tokyo:

"The line we propose is the line now generally held by the United Nations forces. It is a military line, devoid of political implications, and the general line along which our forces now stand facing north."

He did not indicate the depth of a buffer zone he wants.

State Police Conference Opens White Plains Sessions

White Plains, N. Y., Aug. 14—Delegates to the New York State Police Conference want a 40-hour work week and higher wages, but without unionization by major labor organizations.

Some 500 policemen registered yesterday at the opening session of the annual convention of the State's Police Benevolent Associations. There are 194 PBA units.

John E. Carton, New York city PBA president and conference head, told the delegates "policemen want the PBA and the PBA only."

Carton assailed Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO Transport Workers, who have been trying to bring the police into his union.

Quill has been battling New York City Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan, who last week ordered police to stay out of a union or face disciplinary action. Monaghan's edict has the support of Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri.

In a greeting speech to the PBA delegates, Carton said:

"The parade has passed by and Quill doesn't know it. The New Yory city PBA delegates have already voted to reject Quillism and to stand by the PBA."

In a banquet address, although not mentioning Quill by name, Carton said, "if this political opportunist were successful in organizing the police of New York city, he would then attempt to organize police in New York state and throughout the nation.

"If he were successful in this,

to Lauchlin Currie, a White House aide in the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In testimony to the House Un-American Activities Committee, Miss Bentley once said Currie supplied "inside information" to her spy ring. Currie swore he did not.

Currie is now an economic adviser to the Colombian government.

Miss Bentley told the senators that Greenburg was "extremely temperamental" and she avoided direct contact with him.

"Strictly speaking," she said of Greenburg, "he was not an American Communist" because he was a British subject at the time.

Greenburg is a former editor of Pacific Relations, a bulletin published by IPR.

She said a Mildred Price was "Communist organizer for the unit operating in the Far East field," and said a sister, Mary Price, also worked with the group.

Browder Is Named

She named Earl Browder, wartime titular head of the Communist party in the United States as a man who "took my orders" and "provided agents" for the spy ring. "I was the boss," she said of her contacts with Browder.

Through Browder, she said, she arranged for "a Soviet agent" who was about to be drafted into the army to be shifted to the merchant marine, but said she never asked Browder how he managed it because "that was his job."

Miss Bentley named an organization known as the China Aid Council as "completely Communist dominated." She identified a copy of one of its letterheads, addressed to William Holland, an IPR official, inviting him to become a member of the council's board of directors.

Down one side of the letterhead were the printed names of the following, listed as the council's officers:

Mme. Wei Tao-ming, honorary chairman; Mrs. Edward C. Cartern, president; Arthur Upham Pope, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth B. Cotton, treasurer; Sally Lucas Jean, chairman of the children's division; Dr. Claude E. Heaton, chairman of the medical division; Mildred Price, executive secretary; Mentana G. Sayers, executive assistant, and the following as directors:

Dr. Phyllis Ackerman, Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, Samuel L. M. Barlow, Dr. Leona Baumgartner, Dr. Henry L. Bibby, Dr. Peter Blos, Dr. Ch'ao Ting Chi, Mrs. Angelika W. Frink, Talitha Gerlach, Philip J. Jaffe, Mrs. Philip C. Jessup, Beatrice Kates, Dr. Lawson G. Lowrey, Mrs. C. Reinold Noyes, Dr. Max Pinner, Mrs. John Tee-van, Mrs. Gordon M. Tiffany, Dr. George M. Wheatley.

Harriman Calls Upon Pahlevi

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 14 (AP)—U. S. trouble-shooter W. Averell Harriman called on Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi today to appeal for continuted moderation in the critical British-Iranian oil tanks.

While President Truman's special envoy met Iran's ruler, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh called the cabinet into special session to discuss the latest British offer to settle the oil nationalization dispute.

Neither the British nor the Iranians would disclose the specific details of the offer, presented last night by chief British negotiator Richard Stokes.

But informed sources said Mossadegh's first reaction was coolness toward the British proposal for joint operation of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's wells and refineries, which Iran nationalized last spring.

Boy Badly Needs His Red Bicycle

A plea was made today by friends of Aivars Bruveris, 13, a displaced person from Latvia, who lives in this city at 212 Fair street, for the return of his bicycle, which was stolen from Wall street Sunday.

The boy, who bought the bicycle with money saved from doing odd jobs and delivering papers, needs the bicycle especially for his paper route, Mrs. Hamilton Boyd, Jr., of 212 Fair street, said today.

Aivars and his mother live at the Boyd home. His father, who has been missing seven years, is now believed dead. The boy and his mother have been here since last January. The boy is doing well with his school work and is adept in learning English, Mrs. Boyd said.

A police report yesterday said the red bicycle, with a large basket on front, was stolen from in front of the Hymes store on Wall street Sunday.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Stocks slipped a little lower today in a quiet market.

The losses seldom went beyond a dollar a share among active issues. Scattered gains were restricted.

Rails showed the first sign of weakness after the market as a whole started out a little higher. Gradually the plus signs disappeared until the entire list swung to the downside.

Building materials perked up a bit but without generating a following. The congressional talk of a big new public housing program provided a spur.

There also were some small advances in oils, distillers, rubbers, and mining shares. These however, didn't dominate the picture by any means.

American Telephone moved to another new high when it sold at 158½.

Also higher were Standard Oil of Ohio (on a good earnings report), Union Oil of California, U. S. Gypsum, Johns-Mansville, Union Carbide, Goodyear, Westinghouse Electric, and Schenley Industries.

Americans Expect

shortly and announce they will attend the conference.

The State Department, announcing Russian acceptance yesterday, declined to comment formally or to indicate what its strategy will be to counter an anticipated propaganda attack.

American Plan Reported

An American plan for thwarting Russia's designs at San Francisco, however, is reported to call for:

1. Limiting speeches to the subject of Japanese peace treaty draft.

2. A majority-vote rule which can be used to declare violators "out of order."

Russia's delegates to the San Francisco meeting are expected to press vigorously Moscow's contention that the United States is seeking to revive Japanese militarism.

No limits of Japanese rearmament are contained in the American treaty draft. This stems from a U. S. government belief it would be suicidal to keep Japan disarmed at a time when it thinks Communist China and Russia both have an eye on Japan's industrial facilities.

Gruenther said contrary to some thinking that he believes a succesful cease-fire in Korea would make war less likely in Europe at this time.

"I would feel that there is more chance that trouble will start in Europe if this thing is not settled," he said.

In recommending creation of a new independent agency to handle the foreign assistance programs, the committee said it has no intention of relegating the secretary of state to a subordinate position but rather to "coordinate responsibility."

Richard E. Thibaut, Jr., 38, Woodstock correspondent for The Freeman, who was injured in an accident in that village on Saturday, is a patient at Kingston Hospital, where his condition today was reported as "good."

Corporal Ray Dunn of the state police and Woodstock Constable Charles Farley reported that Thibaut suffered a broken right arm and lacerations in an automobile accident on Mill Hill road about 4:30 p. m. Saturday.

Thibaut's wife, Rosemary, who was driving at the time, told authorities that she was going toward the village green when a truck owned by Harry Ostrander, Willow, and driven by Birge Simmons of Bearsville backed out of a driveway, its rear end striking the right side of the Thibaut "Jeep" station wagon. Thibaut was treated by Dr. Hans Cohn of Woodstock and was later admitted to Kingston Hospital.

Maneuvers to Begin

Bonn, Germany, Aug. 14 (AP)—The British army's annual maneuvers, biggest in North Germany since the war, will begin Sept. 14.

IPR Is Described

to Lauchlin Currie, a White House aide in the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In testimony to the House Un-American Activities Committee, Miss Bentley once said Currie supplied "inside information" to her spy ring. Currie swore he did not.

Currie is now an economic adviser to the Colombian government.

Miss Bentley told the senators that Greenburg was "extremely temperamental" and she avoided direct contact with him.

"Strictly speaking," she said of Greenburg, "he was not an American Communist" because he was a British subject at the time.

Greenburg is a former editor of Pacific Relations, a bulletin published by IPR.

She said a Mildred Price was "Communist organizer for the unit operating in the Far East field," and said a sister, Mary Price, also worked with the group.

Browder Is Named

She named Earl Browder, wartime titular head of the Communist party in the United States as a man who "took my orders" and "provided agents" for the spy ring. "I was the boss," she said of her contacts with Browder.

Through Browder, she said, she arranged for "a Soviet agent" who was about to be drafted into the army to be shifted to the merchant marine, but said she never asked Browder how he managed it because "that was his job."

Miss Bentley named an organization known as the China Aid Council as "completely Communist dominated." She identified a copy of one of its letterheads, addressed to William Holland, an IPR official, inviting him to become a member of the council's board of directors.

Down one side of the letterhead were the printed names of the following, listed as the council's officers:

Mme. Wei Tao-ming, honorary chairman; Mrs. Edward C. Cartern, president; Arthur Upham Pope, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth B. Cotton, treasurer; Sally Lucas Jean, chairman of the children's division; Dr. Claude E. Heaton, chairman of the medical division; Mildred Price, executive secretary; Mentana G. Sayers, executive assistant, and the following as directors:

Dr. Phyllis Ackerman, Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, Samuel L. M. Barlow, Dr. Leona Baumgartner, Dr. Henry L. Bibby, Dr. Peter Blos, Dr. Ch'ao Ting Chi, Mrs. Angelika W. Frink, Talitha Gerlach, Philip J. Jaffe, Mrs. Philip C. Jessup, Beatrice Kates, Dr. Lawson G. Lowrey, Mrs. C. Reinold Noyes, Dr. Max Pinner, Mrs. John Tee-van, Mrs. Gordon M. Tiffany, Dr. George M. Wheatley.

Harriman Calls Upon Pahlevi

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 14 (AP)—U. S. trouble-shooter W. Averell Harriman called on Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi today to appeal for continued moderation in the critical British-Iranian oil tanks.

While President Truman's special envoy met Iran's ruler, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh called the cabinet into special session to discuss the latest British offer to settle the oil nationalization dispute.

Neither the British nor the Iranians would disclose the specific details of the offer, presented last night by chief British negotiator Richard Stokes.

But informed sources said Mossadegh's first reaction was coolness toward the British proposal for joint operation of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's wells and refineries, which Iran nationalized last spring.

Boy Badly Needs His Red Bicycle

A plea was made today by friends of Aivars Bruveris, 13, a displaced person from Latvia, who lives in this city at 212 Fair street, for the return of his bicycle, which was stolen from Wall street Sunday.

The boy, who bought the bicycle with money saved from doing odd jobs and delivering papers, needs the bicycle especially for his paper route, Mrs. Hamilton Boyd, Jr., of 212 Fair street, said today.

Aivars and his mother live at the Boyd home. His father, who has been missing seven years, is now believed dead. The boy and his mother have been here since last January. The boy is doing well with his school work and is adept in learning English, Mrs. Boyd said.

A police report yesterday said the red bicycle, with a large basket on front, was stolen from in front of the Hymes store on Wall street Sunday.

Crop Prediction Made

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—A 1951 commercial apple crop of 19,975,000 bushels, or about 16 per cent of the national total, was predicted today for New York state. The forecast was made in a report prepared by the state and federal departments of agriculture. The expected crop would be seven per cent larger than in 1950, but slightly smaller than in 1949.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Stocks slipped a little lower today in a quiet market.

The losses seldom went beyond a dollar a share among active issues. Scattered gains were restricted.

Rails showed the first sign of weakness after the market as a whole started out a little higher. Gradually the plus signs disappeared until the entire list swung to the downside.

Building materials perked up a bit but without generating a following. The congressional talk of a big new public housing program provided a spur.

There also were some small advances in oils, distillers, rubbers, and mining shares. These however, didn't dominate the picture by any means.

American Telephone moved to another new high when it sold at 158½.

Also higher were Standard Oil of Ohio (on a good earnings report), Union Oil of California, U. S. Gypsum, Johns-Mansville, Union Carbide, Goodyear, Westinghouse Electric, and Schenley Industries.

Americans Expect

shortly and announce they will attend the conference.

The State Department, announcing Russian acceptance yesterday, declined to comment formally or to indicate what its strategy will be to counter an anticipated propaganda attack.

American Plan Reported

An American plan for thwarting Russia's designs at San Francisco, however, is reported to call for:

1. Limiting speeches to the subject of Japanese peace treaty draft.

2. A majority-vote rule which can be used to declare violators "out of order."

Russia's delegates to the San Francisco meeting are expected to press vigorously Moscow's contention that the United States is seeking to revive Japanese militarism.

No limits of Japanese rearmament are contained in the American treaty draft. This stems from a U. S. government belief it would be suicidal to keep Japan disarmed at a time when it thinks Communist China and Russia both have an eye on Japan's industrial facilities.

Shaw Dismissed From Hospital

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 14 (AP)—Dr. Edward J. Shaw, committed to a mental institution after the death of a Nashville widow last April, has been declared well again and dismissed.

The 36-year-old physician from New Rochelle, N. Y., will return here soon to petition the Davidson County Court to set aside a ruling adjudging him insane.

Carl Hardin, Nashville attorney for Shaw, said that if the doctor is successful in having the sanity ruling changed, he may resume his medical practice in Tennessee. Hardin said several psychiatrists would testify that Shaw is "well again."

Shaw was arrested after the death of Mrs. Carl Crutchfield last April 25. The 40-year-old woman—widow of a nationally-known cancer surgeon—died in convulsions at a hospital.

A coroner's jury ruled death was caused by an overdose of a heart stimulant and an antidote for poison, both of which Shaw said he administered because he thought the woman had been poisoned.

Is Found Insane

He was found insane and committed to Central State Hospital but later was transferrel to a private institution near New Rochelle.

The surgeon came here last year after the death of Dr. Crutchfield, and he had been associated with the widow in the operation of Haggard Clinic, established by her husband.

Hardin also said Shaw would seek to "protect his interests" under one of two wills left by Mrs. Crutchfield. The later of the two documents, dated December, 1950, left Shaw the woman's interest in the Haggard Clinic and also named him guardian of her two-year-old daughter.

Tallamy Seeks Billboards Ban Along Thruway

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—The chairman of the state thruway authority proposes legislative action to prevent a rash of billboards along the 500-mile superhighway, which is under construction.

Bertram D. Tallamy recommended yesterday that the authority sponsor in the 1952 legislature a bill "to prevent outdoor advertising generally along the route of the thruway and to control it in zoned industrial and commercial areas."

Tallamy said billboards could not be prohibited, but could be controlled, in municipalities through which the thruway passes.

He also reported the thruway authority, in acquiring rights-of-way, was attempting to control signs for a distance of 1,000 feet on each side of the highway.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By CHIEF LEADING EAGLE, Jr.
(Alias HAL BOYLE)

Hibbing, Minn. (AP)—You think you'd like to be an Indian chief?

Well, think again, paleface. There's a lot of woe to the title, and in the Sioux tribe at least you don't get paid a sou for the job. I've been an Indian chief less than a month, and already I'm beginning to think I should have remained an Irishman.

The Oglala branch of the Sioux took me into their fraternity during a festival at Hot Springs, S. D. It wasn't quite the ceremony I had expected.

I thought it would be done in secret at night by a roaring campfire. But we Sioux are up to date now. The proceedings were broadcast through a loud speaker.

A group of painted braves and moccasined squaws led me through a crowd of curious tourists to the peak of a small hill.

"Whatsa matter?" said one tourist. "Did they catch him stealing?"

"I dunno," said another. "Let's hang around. Maybe they'll scalp him."

"A little late for that," said the first tourist, looking at the sun glinting on my bald forehead.

Not Enough Blood

When you entered the tribe in the old days you gashed your wrist and held it against the gashed wrist of a born Sioux, and the mingling red made you blood brothers. But after a glance at my grub-white city features, Chief Ben American Horse and his pals decided to forego that rite. They figured I didn't have enough blood.

"You now Chief Leading Eagle," said an old warrior, crowning me with a headdress of red and white eagle feathers. Then an Indian on the edge of the crowd stepped up and borrowed ten bucks from me, and I knew I really was one of the family.

After that we had a victory dance. It consists of jumping up and down as if you were stamping out snakes and yelling as if you'd sat down on a thorn. We Indians found it pretty fatiguing—but it made the tourists happy.

Asks Pension Rights

Chief Leading Eagle? It was a nice name. But what's in a name? I asked one of my new buddies how soon I'd get a pension.

"Chiefs no get pension," he said.

"How about insurance?"

"Chiefs no get insurance."

No pensions! No insurance! What kind of a lodge was I in? I began to think I ought to have joined the Elks or the Moose.

Well, it turned out that an Irishman who joins the Sioux is just moving from one downtrodden clan to another.

"Indians have bad time now," one brave said bravely.

He explained that it is hard to get enough beads from Czechoslovakia to make genuine Indian souvenirs for the tourists. Our Tribe is also short of cattle on the reservation, and times are so tough some of our boys have had to go to work in the palefaces' new atom plants. It's a rough world today for Lo, the poor Indian.

Also, No Delegation

I asked a group why we didn't send a delegation to the Great White Father, and demand justice.

"Hell, we've worn out half the doorsteps in Washington in the last 50 years," said one disgruntled leader. "The government is still mad at us because we whipped Custer."

I regret to say I've already had a little trouble with one of my fellow chiefs. It's over my title.

Chief Standing Bear went into the offices of the Rapid City (S.D.) Daily Journal to complain about it. He said that years ago, when President Calvin Coolidge spent a summer in the Black Hills, he had taken Coolidge into the tribe and named him "Leading Eagle."

"Two chiefs can't have the same name," grumbled Chief Standing Bear.

I thought he was acting like an Indian-giver, but to keep peace in the tribe, I have bowed to the Coolidge priority and taken a new name—"Chief Leading Eagle, Jr."

And if old Standing Bear doesn't like it he can go sit down in his tepee and swallow a buffalo robe. Or he can hire a lawyer and Sioux me, Sioux me, Sioux me.

Lavery Awarded $30,000 by Jury

Los Angeles, Aug. 14 (AP)—Playwright Emmet Lavery has been awarded $30,000 by a jury that heard the $1,000,000 damage suit, alleging slander, that he filed against Mrs. Lela Rogers and seven other persons.

The jury reached its verdict last night after 12 hours of actual deliberation. The case had been on trial since July 10, and grew out of a radio debate over the American Broadcasting System Sept. 2, 1947 on the topic, "Is There Really a Communist Threat in Hollywood?"

Lavery claimed he was slandered by actress Ginger Rogers' mother and the persons he said helped write her speech for the debate. He claimed that she criticized his play, "A Gentleman From Athens," and called it Communist propaganda, and that as a result it was a failure on Broadway.

Affirmative Upheld

Mrs. Rogers and State Senator Jack B. Tenney upheld the affirmative side of the radio debate, and Lavery and Albert Dekker, film actor, the negative.

Other defendants in the suit were novelist Ayn Rand, playwright Morrie Ryskind, film writer Robert Arthur, the estates of film director Sam Woods and film writer James McGuinness, The American Broadcasting Co., and Town Hall, Inc.

Attorneys for the defendants indicated they will move for a new trial and if they lose, appeal the nine to three verdict.

"Naturally, I am very pleased with the verdict," said Lavery, a former New York newspaperman.

ANNUAL Boy Scout Finance CAMPAIGN

Ulster and Greene County

"Together We Build"

AUGUST 6th thru 18th

HOW SCOUTING IS FINANCED

It is the policy of the Boy Scouts of America that the program be financed by public subscription from the people of the area in which the program is to be made effective. Only once a year is the opportunity of this investment in the boys of a community given to the citizens of that community. Since there is no other source of income it is necessary to secure sufficient money in the Annual Campaign for Funds to make possible and to maintain the administration of the Council for the year. The money received is used to help interested institutions properly organize Packs, Troops, and Explorer groups to insure permanency; to obtain trained professional Executives in guiding the movement and interpreting policies; office service to Units and Institutions; to publish bulletins, periodicals and other literature to help leaders; for the training of leaders through organized courses in all phases of the Scouting Program; for the development of District Committees to make Scouting available to all boys; for the organization, training, and guidance of a Commissioner Staff to service Troops, Packs and Explorer Units; for the organization and direction of inter-Unit activities through the Commissioner Staff; for regular Courts of Honor and Boards of Review which makes possible the Advancement Program of Scouting; for the privilege and opportunity of attending a supervised Camp that has been specifically developed to insure a safe, wholesome and worthwhile Scouting experience for every Scout and Explorer.

(Alias HAL BOYLE)

Hibbing, Minn. (AP)—You think you'd like to be an Indian chief?

Well, think again, paleface. There's a lot of woe to the title, and in the Sioux tribe at least you don't get paid a sou for the job. I've been an Indian chief less than a month, and already I'm beginning to think I should have remained an Irishman.

The Oglala branch of the Sioux took me into their fraternity during a festival at Hot Springs, S. D. It wasn't quite the ceremony I had expected.

I thought it would be done in secret at night by a roaring campfire. But we Sioux are up to date now. The proceedings were broadcast through a loud speaker.

A group of painted braves and moccasined squaws led me through a crowd of curious tourists to the peak of a small hill.

"Whatsa matter?" said one tourist. "Did they catch him stealing?"

"I dunno," said another. "Let's hang around. Maybe they'll scalp him."

"A little late for that," said the first tourist, looking at the sun glinting on my bald forehead.

Not Enough Blood

When you entered the tribe in the old days you gashed your wrist and held it against the gashed wrist of a born Sioux, and the mingling red made you blood brothers. But after a glance at my grub-white city features, Chief Ben American Horse and his pals decided to forego that rite. They figured I didn't have enough blood.

"You now Chief Leading Eagle," said an old warrior, crowning me with a headdress of red and white eagle feathers. Then an Indian on the edge of the crowd stepped up and borrowed ten bucks from me, and I knew I really was one of the family.

After that we had a victory dance. It consists of jumping up and down as if you were stamping out snakes and yelling as if you'd sat down on a thorn. We Indians found it pretty fatiguing—but it made the tourists happy.

Asks Pension Rights

Chief Leading Eagle? It was a nice name. But what's in a name? I asked one of my new buddies how soon I'd get a pension.

"Chiefs no get pension," he said.

"How about insurance?"

"Chiefs no get insurance."

No pensions! No insurance! What kind of a lodge was I in? I began to think I ought to have joined the Elks or the Moose.

Well, it turned out that an Irishman who joins the Sioux is just moving from one downtrodden clan to another.

"Indians have bad time now," one brave said bravely.

He explained that it is hard to get enough beads from Czechoslovakia to make genuine Indian souvenirs for the tourists. Our Tribe is also short of cattle on the reservation, and times are so tough some of our boys have had to go to work in the palefaces' new atom plants. It's a rough world today for Lo, the poor Indian.

Also, No Delegation

I asked a group why we didn't send a delegation to the Great White Father, and demand justice.

"Hell, we've worn out half the doorsteps in Washington in the last 50 years," said one disgruntled leader. "The government is still mad at us because we whipped Custer."

I regret to say I've already had a little trouble with one of my fellow chiefs. It's over my title.

Chief Standing Bear went into the offices of the Rapid City (S.D.) Daily Journal to complain about it. He said that years ago, when President Calvin Coolidge spent a summer in the Black Hills, he had taken Coolidge into the tribe and named him "Leading Eagle."

"Two chiefs can't have the same name," grumbled Chief Standing Bear.

I thought he was acting like an Indian-giver, but to keep peace in the tribe, I have bowed to the Coolidge priority and taken a new name—"Chief Leading Eagle, Jr."

And if old Standing Bear doesn't like it he can go sit down in his tepee and swallow a buffalo robe. Or he can hire a lawyer and Sioux me, Sioux me, Sioux me.

Lavery Awarded $30,000 by Jury

Los Angeles, Aug. 14 (AP)—Playwright Emmet Lavery has been awarded $30,000 by a jury that heard the $1,000,000 damage suit, alleging slander, that he filed against Mrs. Lela Rogers and seven other persons.

The jury reached its verdict last night after 12 hours of actual deliberation. The case had been on trial since July 10, and grew out of a radio debate over the American Broadcasting System Sept. 2, 1947 on the topic, "Is There Really a Communist Threat in Hollywood?"

Lavery claimed he was slandered by actress Ginger Rogers' mother and the persons he said helped write her speech for the debate. He claimed that she criticized his play, "A Gentleman From Athens," and called it Communist propaganda, and that as a result it was a failure on Broadway.

Affirmative Upheld

Mrs. Rogers and State Senator Jack B. Tenney upheld the affirmative side of the radio debate, and Lavery and Albert Dekker, film actor, the negative.

Other defendants in the suit were novelist Ayn Rand, playwright Morrie Ryskind, film writer Robert Arthur, the estates of film director Sam Woods and film writer James McGuinness, The American Broadcasting Co., and Town Hall, Inc.

Attorneys for the defendants indicated they will move for a new trial and if they lose, appeal the nine to three verdict.

"Naturally, I am very pleased with the verdict," said Lavery, a former New York newspaperman.

ANNUAL Boy Scout Finance CAMPAIGN

Ulster and Greene County

"Together We Build"

HOW SCOUTING IS FINANCED

It is the policy of the Boy Scouts of America that the program be financed by public subscription from the people of the area in which the program is to be made effective. Only once a year is the opportunity of this investment in the boys of a community given to the citizens of that community. Since there is no other source of income it is necessary to secure sufficient money in the Annual Campaign for Funds to make possible and to maintain the administration of the Council for the year. The money received is used to help interested institutions properly organize Packs, Troops, and Explorer groups to insure permanency; to obtain trained professional Executives in guiding the movement and interpreting policies; office service to Units and Institutions; to publish bulletins, periodicals and other literature to help leaders; for the training of leaders through organized courses in all phases of the Scouting Program; for the development of District Committees to make Scouting available to all boys; for the organization, training, and guidance of a Commissioner Staff to service Troops, Packs and Explorer Units; for the organization and direction of inter-Unit activities through the Commissioner Staff; for regular Courts of Honor and Boards of Review which makes possible the Advancement Program of Scouting; for the privilege and opportunity of attending a supervised Camp that has been specifically developed to insure a safe, wholesome and worthwhile Scouting experience for every Scout and Explorer.

AIR FORCE EXPANSION

When the first shouts went up for a 150-group Air Force, the idea sounded pretty fanciful to many sober analysts of military power.

But the proposal has been hotly debated within the Pentagon walls, and has steadily gained strength in Congress. Now it has been given its biggest boost to date—Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, the powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, has endorsed it.

Vinson does not urge 150 combat groups, but 138. He suggests, however, that another 25 troop carrier wings be created, for a total Air Force of 163 wings.

At the outset we have to remember that neither Vinson nor anybody else is talking about the current military budget. The present program, now under congressional consideration, calls for 95 groups. They would cost $19,850,000,000 out of a total $56,000,000,000 defense appropriation.

How much would the bigger program cost?

If started within the current fiscal year, one estimate is that another $10,000,000,000 to $12,000,000,000 would be needed before next June 30. In fiscal 1953 and 1954, sums of $30,000,000,000 and $40,000,000,000, respectively, are anticipated for all Air Force requirements under the expanded plan.

When the latter figure is set beside the projected $56,000,000,000 for all military needs this year, some notion of the program's scope can be gained.

Every citizen can appreciate that if this plan should be adopted, many new factors will be introduced into the American military picture.

For one thing, it is unlikely that an effort would be made to raise comparably the outlays for the Army and Navy. The old principle of balanced appropriations for all three arms of the service would be out the window. It is in fact on the way out in the current budget.

But while this would obviously signal our intent to rely heavily on superior air power, the idea of balanced air, sea and ground strength would not really be abandoned. Perhaps the key argument made by advocates of enlarged air power is that it is necessary for the sound support of the land forces deemed essential for effective defense against major Soviet aggression.

In other words, they are saying that mere equality in dollars will not produce the basic balance of strength which we seek. To get that, it is argued, we must spend considerably more on air than on the other branches.

The American people and their Congress must make up their minds about this proposed vast Air Force increase within the coming months. Its great cost, its revolutionary impact on the relations among the services, its effect on the peacetime economy are all reasons why the plan should be thoroughly aired and wisely appraised.

Few decisions made by American lawmakers these days are not weighted either with danger or great promise for the future. The decision on how big to make the Air Force fits more than any other into the critical category.

GIVE MARTIN 'A' FOR EFFORT

The Internal Revenue Code allows tax deductions for property losses not covered by insurance, if caused by "fires, storms, shipwrecks or other casualty."

When Martin Rosenberg's house suffered $1,800 worth of termite damage in 1947, he decided the law covered his loss and so deducted the item from his income tax.

The U. S. Tax Court disallowed the claim. It said several cases established that "other casualty" had to be a "sudden casualty." It added: "We cannot find under the evidence here that the damage was done suddenly or even recently."

We are left with the tantalizing thought that if the termites were just a little speedier at their work, Mr. Rosenberg might have made the grade. Anyway, it was a nice try.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S LISTS

The decision of the Supreme Court, in the cases involving the joint anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., International Workers Order, Inc., is extremely important. These organizations sought their deletion from the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. Lower courts had upheld the attorney general; the Supreme Court held that these organizations had a right to sue for such deletion.

Mr. Justice Burton, who gave the majority opinion, said:

". . . To defend such a designation of them, on the basis of the complaints alone, is an assertion of presidential authority so to designate an organization at the option of the attorney general without reliance upon either disclosed or undisclosed facts supplying a reasonable basis for the determination. It is that, and only that outer limit of the authority of the attorney general that is now before up."

Further, he said:

". . . The organizations to be designated on that list are not limited to those having federal employes in their memberships. They may even exclude such employes from membership. Accordingly, the impact of the attorney general's lists is by no means limited to persons who are subject to the employes loyalty program."

The Supreme Court is only supposed to deal with what has been placed before it and therefore, if no one called the attention of the learned brethren to the facts of life, they are not expected to know anything about them. For instance, Hede Massing, Louis Budenz, Whittaker Chambers and others have testified under oath that they were part of Communist apparatuses outside the government, under the control of Soviet Russia, which were actually engaged in efforts to infiltrate our government, in which they succeeded in specific cases.

There is ample evidence of this kind of activity in the files of the FBI, the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and now the McCarran Committee, to establish the validity of the attorney general's list. What the Supreme Court has actually done is to open the door for each of these organizations—there are several hundred—to go into court to force a hearing on whether their names should or should not be on the list.

Maybe that is the only just way to do it. Justice Burton says:

". . . The acts of the attorney general and the loyalty review board, purporting to be taken by them under authority of the executive order, have seriously and irreparably impaired, and will continue to so impair, the reputation of the organization and the moral support and good will of the American people necessary for the continuance of its charitable activities. . . ."

That is precisely what the list is designed to do. In the case of one of these organizations, the International Workers Order, Inc., I have before me the brief prepared by Paul W. Williams, special counsel for the Insurance Department of the State of New York, which successfully sought to put this organization out of the insurance business. The brief shows:

"The IWO operates through a system of more than 1,600 lodges throughout the United States. These lodges fall into 16 nationality societies, which are administrative subdivisions of the IWO, having no separate corporate existence. In many cases much of the business of these societies is transacted in the language of the nationality group in question. These groups are as follows:

"American Russian Fraternal Society; Carpatho-Russian American Mutual Aid Society; Cervantes Fraternal Society; Croatian Benevolent Fraternity of America; Czech Workers Society; Douglass Lincoln Fraternal Society; Finnish American Mutual Aid Society; Garibaldi American Fraternal Society; Hellenic American Fraternal Society; Hungarian Brotherhood; Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order; Polonia Society; Roumanian American Fraternal Society; Serbian American Federation; Slovak Workers Society; Ukrainian American Fraternal Union."

The brief clearly establishes Communist propagandist activity by the International Workers Order. The attorney general is required to show "weighty reason for departing in this instance from a rule so deeply imbedded in history and in the demands of justice. Nothing in the loyalty order requires him to deny organizations opportunity to present their case. The executive order, defining his powers, directs only that designation shall be made 'after appropriate investigation and determination.' This surely does not preclude an administrative procedure, however informal, which would incorporate the essentials of due process. . . ."

The real trouble here stems from the fact that the attorney general's lists are a product of an executive order which does not define the word "subversive."

If we want really to get Communists, Marxists and Russian agents, out of the government, why not specifically define them as such?

SIGNIFICANCE OF PAINFUL FEET

It is said of one of the former presidents of the United States that he suffered so much with sore feet that he would sometimes walk away from a companion to get to a spot where he could ease them.

In many cases, the feet are as important as the head in acquiring calmness of spirit and in actually making a living. An individual suffering with sore feet would have difficulty selling himself or his product. Sore feet are a physical and mental hazard.

Every year an organization, The National Foot Council, a nonprofit foundation sponsoring the care of children's feet and industrial foot health, directs a National Foot Health Week for children and parents to prevent foot defects in childhood. This year special emphasis is placed on industrial foot care to aid the efficiency of production workers in defense work by trying to get rid of the major cause of fatigue—defective footwear that cause foot troubles and slow-downs.

After showing the financial loss to industry from sore feet, it is pointed out that old or run-over shoes cause poor posture, contribute to accidents, make corns grow painful. Surveys by the Foot Council show that 63 per cent (almost 2 out of 3) of all industrial workers lose a day or more time per month because their feet hurt. They either stay away from work or take time out to rest every hour in the hope that they can stand at the job until the whistle blows. Aching feet result in slower work, less efficiency, lost motion, errors and impairment of health. "Sufferers include store clerks, factory workers, house painters, roofers, garage mechanics, truck drivers, even dentists and nurses."

While ill-fitting shoes during childhood is a major cause of sore feet in adults, nevertheless there is a growing list of firms throughout the country who have added foot clinics to their health departments where a podiatrist or chiropodist is on duty to direct the foot care program. One plant reported that since they started a foot clinic for their employes, there has been a 12 per cent drop in absenteeism and a rise in production efficiency.

Workers are given foot health rules to follow to care for the feet such as (a) selection of flexible leather soled shoes to prevent irritation and (b) wearing paper slippers in the shower and not walking on bare floors where they may pick up fungi that cause athlete's foot.

Chip Off the Old Block

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Near the Iron Curtain, in Central Europe—The most important answer to the alarming question put before Congress recently by secretaries Marshall and Pace—"Will there be war with Russia soon?"—lies in the long stretch of barbed wire extending from the Black Sea to the Baltic which Winston Churchill named the Iron Curtain.

Most Americans, including the U. S. government, have neglected the importance of this barrier between east and west.

We have failed to realize that there will always exist the danger of war with Russia as long as this curtain exists; as long as the Moscow radio can tell the Russian people anything they want about us and the Russian people have no way of knowing the opposite; and as long as there is no free parliament, no free church, no free press, no free public opinion to prevent the Kremlin from declaring war.

We have also failed to realize that even if we fight a war with Russia and win, actually our victory will be temporary unless we can convert the Russian people to friendship with the U. S. A. Until we have done that, we shall have to fight wars all over again.

Finally we have failed to realize that Russia has never been conquered by force of arms. Napoleon tried it and got bogged down on the road to Moscow. Hitler also tried it and got swamped in front of Stalingrad.

But the Kaiser, having been stopped in Latvia, picked up Lenin in Switzerland, put him on a special train with drawn blinds, and sent him to Russia. It was after this that Russia, under a new bolshevist regime, finally surrendered.

In other words, it was propaganda and politics which really defeated the czar.

Weather Balloons

That is one reason why I have been hammering home the idea that we should use any and all kinds of propaganda, including weather balloons, to penetrate the Iron Curtain and get the truth to the people of Russia and the satellites.

No matter what else is happening inside Russia, one thing is certain. Stalin has imposed the Iron Curtain for the specific reason that he fears contact between the Russian people and the outside world.

He knows, and a small segment of the Russian people also know, how American and Soviet troops drank vodka together, toasted their mutual friendship together on the shores of the River Elbe at the end of the war.

He also knows how soldiers of the Red Army who have visited Vienna, Warsaw, Prague or even shell-shocked Berlin, have returned to tell their friends about the culture and economic progress of the free world lying beyond the Soviet border. Some of these soldiers have shown such enthusiasm over the west and such skepticism over communism that it has been necessary to isolate them, following their discharge, from their native villages.

Stalin also knows that when the Nazis advanced into Russia in 1940 the astounding total of 3,600,000 Russians surrendered to the Germans.

We in the West did not know about this wholesale surrender until after we had seized German documents and interviewed German officers after V-E Day. But Stalin knew. And he knew that the German Army never would have penetrated Russia as it did if many of the Russian people had not actually welcomed it, and if whole segments of the Red Army had not been eager to surrender.

The Kaiser's army in 1915-17 advanced only to Riga. It never actually reached the soil of Russia proper. Hitler's army in 1940 marched two-thirds of the way across Russia, right down to the Caucasus. In other words, the czar, with all his tyranny, commanded more loyalty than Stalin.

These are some of the reasons for the Iron Curtain. These also are some of the reasons why we must make the Iron Curtain a lace curtain if we are to prevent war; if we are to win permanent peace over a period of years.

Counterpropaganda

Propaganda balloons floated across the Iron Curtain have their drawbacks. If they disrupt satellite and Russian public opinion enough, the Kremlin is bound to start the rumor that they are carrying bacteriological warfare—germs aimed to ruin the crops of the Communist people.

The Kremlin may also plant a bomb with an alleged propaganda balloon, arrange to kill someone and then claim that westerners are trying to murder the Russian people.

Some counterpropaganda like this is almost certain to happen. But when two nations suffer such strained relations as the U. S. A. and U. S. S. R. you can't make those relations any worse, and sometimes revolutionary methods and radical surgery improve them. Certainly it will be true that the louder the Kremlin squawks and tries to twist the meaning of friendship messages to the Russian people, the more it is certain that such propaganda is hurting.

Freedom-friendship balloons floated across the iron curtain are not, of course, going to change the people of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary overnight. But they can help. And added to the Voice of America and other propaganda, some of which cannot be written about, they can hit the Kremlin in the Achilles' heel which Stalin is worried most about—the fear that the people behind the iron curtain may get to know that we are friendly, peaceful people who will fight if necessary, but who, contrary to the Russian radio, do not want war.

Pear Tree Bore Four Crops of Fruit

A pear tree grown by Mr. O. G. Jones of West Plains, Mo., bore four crops of pears in one year. A late freeze killed practically all the fruits in that section and caught the pear tree when it was about to open in full bloom. All the new growth was killed and fell off. When the leaf growth appeared and was well started, a second set of blooms developed, from which a few pears remained. In two weeks, a third set of blooms appeared, and again fruit developed. About three weeks later it bloomed for the fourth time and fruit again appeared.

'McCarthyism' Is Assailed; Thought Expressed Nobody Is Disturbed by Tendency

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 14—Nobody around here—certainly nobody except some of us liberals—seems to be disturbed about a new outburst of what appears to come dangerously near to "McCarthyism." It happens to be directed against William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Here is a man who is being accused of wrongdoing even after the loyalty board—or rather, in this case, the morality board headed by the President himself—has cleared him of any disloyalty to the administration and in fact of any wrongdoing whatsoever.

Why is it that when as high an official as the President clears the chairman of the Democratic national committee, the critics will not stay silent?

Mr. Boyle certainly has a right to be protected against smears and innuendoes. It may seem inconsequential to some observers to argue that he failed only in the matter of ethics, and this is not to be compared with the serious accusations which the Wisconsin senator, for instance, levels at State Department employes from his allegedly safe position on the floor of the Senate.

But, after all, it is important to protect the reputation a man is given in the public prints in any respect, especially if he is innocent of any unlawful conduct.

There is, moreover, no problem here of congressional immunity. Nobody in the Senate cast the first stone. It came from a newspaper in St. Louis—the Post-Dispatch—which had made its own investigation. It means, to be sure, that if the Post-Dispatch was misled or didn't have all the facts, Mr. Boyle can challenge them in his own way.

But should that be necessary, especially since Mr. Boyle now has been given a presidential clearance in a formal statement issued from the White House? Why then do the charges persist? It resembles to some extent what happens when the boards clear State Department employes and Mr. McCarthy simply doesn't let the matter rest.

Editorial after editorial of criticism has appeared in the press since Mr. Truman issued his statement of clearance and absolution. The impression is conveyed that maybe Mr. Truman didn't have all the facts. One editorial states that, after all, the statement seems to refer only to what Mr. Boyle did after he became chairman and that there is no denial that he received fees as a lawyer from the firm in question when he was the Missouri member of the Democratic National Committee.

The innuendo is that Mr. Boyle did something improper because a company from which he admittedly got a fee as lawyer happened coincidentally to be the recipient of an RFC loan. Mr. Boyle denies indignantly that he had anything to do with the presentation of any application to the RFC for a loan. He declares that he "never discussed the loan with anyone in the RFC," and adds: "In short, I had nothing to do with the granting of the loan."

Many a denial in connection with government employes accused of wrong memberships and affiliations has been equally as sweeping and just as explicit. Yet Senator McCarthy keeps on insisting nevertheless that, where there is smoke, there's fire and that the cases ought to be re-examined.

The Wisconsin senator is thereupon lambasted for mentioning in print those whose cases he thinks have not been thoroughly examined or cases in which a departmental board has done the clearance. Senator Benton of Connecticut, a Democrat, for example, is convinced that for such insistence and persistence McCarthy should be expelled from the Senate. The Wisconsin senator replies that he believes enough evidence has been gathered to "indict" various persons not in a legal sense but as a matter of public inquiry.

That's exactly what the newspapers now are saying about the Boyle case, which, of course, hasn't a thing to do with Communist activity or disloyalty of that kind. But it is directly related to the question of whether a man should be tried in the court of public opinion after he has been cleared by the government itself—the prosecuting agency—and indeed by the very head of the government.

Notwithstanding all this, various newspapers are demanding that there be a thorough investigation of the Boyle case by a Senate committee. It's all very confusing.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 13—The Marshall girls, of Marshall, Tex., could use the moral support of a million other women in their tiny but nevertheless enormous revolution against the unconstitutional impositions of the baby-sitters' and lawn-boys' Social Security racket.

The Marshall girls are a number of married women living in a nice little city in east Texas who suddenly realized that the government racket, which is trying to extort money from all the domestic "help" in the country and all the employers of that "help," was a bankrupt concern. They also realized that the racket had no constitutional right to do this. It has collected countless millions and the Roosevelt-Truman administrations have squandered every dime, dropping bonds into the damper which are then sold to the public. The taxpayers then pay interest to the holders of these bonds, and the money derived from the sale of the bonds is squandered on still further extravagance. President Truman's $50,000 tax-free graft in the guise of an expense allowance is an example. We may be confident that every dollar of the $200,000 which he will receive for the current four-year term will go into the family sock because exhaustive research in Kansas City, Washington and Key West have disclosed no evidence that El Twirpo ever bought a drink or picked up a grunt for a party.

If a million other women around the country will ignore the forms, disregard the treasury's threatening letters and do nothing whatever about it, the whole fake will blow away and Congress will repeal it as quietly as possible. Nobody is going to make a serious effort to send to prison a million decent American wives and unmarried women who run their own households for refusal to pay a levy which is so flagrantly unconstitutional that the Department of Justice is afraid to test it in the Supreme Court.

And the current blustering fourflush whereby the treasury is "attaching" the bank accounts of the Marshall girls for petty sums will be sheepishly abandoned if the revolution of the Marshall girls is taken up by a million others all over the map. If a million women refuse to put themselves to the tedious, difficult clerical work of making out "returns" every quarter, always subject to penalties for accidental errors, the treasury and Department of Justice will be swamped with delinquencies and prosecutions. Then the federal courts will throw the whole mess out the window.

In one of those complicated union fakes a couple of years ago, the court saw itself overwhelmed with millions of suits for trivial amounts. The cost of each individual trial, waged with all the solemnity of a million-dollar cause, would have been colossal. So the court invoked an old rule with a Latin definition which in a rough translation means "scram, bum," and that is what will surely happen if a million other girls follow the example of the Marshall girls in fighting this fraud.

The New York Herald Tribune runs a devious course and sometimes pretends to have been a valiant fighter against communism, trying to make us forget that Joe Barnes for a long time dictated its foreign policy. But it betrays itself again and again as it did in a recent editorial calling the revolution of the Marshall Girls "much ado about nothing." Like the cheating cadets at West Point, the Herald Tribune held in contempt a great principle of American citizenship under the constitution. It would waive as "sheer nonsense" the dramatic fact that this fraululent racket of a bankrupt insurance concern would put upon the Marshall Girls a legal duty to perform responsible work without pay and compel them to rob their wages and hand it over.

That is "sheer nonsense" in the view of the Herald Tribune.

But when you realize that Joe Barnes, its editorial pundit for many years was also the roommate of Frederick Vanderbilt

AIR FORCE EXPANSION

When the first shouts went up for a 150-group Air Force, the idea sounded pretty fanciful to many sober analysts of military power.

But the proposal has been hotly debated within the Pentagon walls, and has steadily gained strength in Congress. Now it has been given its biggest boost to date—Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, the powerful chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, has endorsed it.

Vinson does not urge 150 combat groups, but 138. He suggests, however, that another 25 troop carrier wings be created, for a total Air Force of 163 wings.

At the outset we have to remember that neither Vinson nor anybody else is talking about the current military budget. The present program, now under congressional consideration, calls for 95 groups. They would cost $19,850,000,000 out of a total $56,000,000,000 defense appropriation.

How much would the bigger program cost?

If started within the current fiscal year, one estimate is that another $10,000,000,000 to $12,000,000,000 would be needed before next June 30. In fiscal 1953 and 1954, sums of $30,000,000,000 and $40,000,000,000, respectively, are anticipated for all Air Force requirements under the expanded plan.

When the latter figure is set beside the projected $56,000,000,000 for all military needs this year, some notion of the program's scope can be gained.

Every citizen can appreciate that if this plan should be adopted, many new factors will be introduced into the American military picture.

For one thing, it is unlikely that an effort would be made to raise comparably the outlays for the Army and Navy. The old principle of balanced appropriations for all three arms of the service would be out the window. It is in fact on the way out in the current budget.

But while this would obviously signal our intent to rely heavily on superior air power, the idea of balanced air, sea and ground strength would not really be abandoned. Perhaps the key argument made by advocates of enlarged air power is that it is necessary for the sound support of the land forces deemed essential for effective defense against major Soviet aggression.

In other words, they are saying that mere equality in dollars will not produce the basic balance of strength which we seek. To get that, it is argued, we must spend considerably more on air than on the other branches.

The American people and their Congress must make up their minds about this proposed vast Air Force increase within the coming months. Its great cost, its revolutionary impact on the relations among the services, its effect on the peacetime economy are all reasons why the plan should be thoroughly aired and wisely appraised.

Few decisions made by American lawmakers these days are not weighted either with danger or great promise for the future. The decision on how big to make the Air Force fits more than any other into the critical category.

GIVE MARTIN 'A' FOR EFFORT

The Internal Revenue Code allows tax deductions for property losses not covered by insurance, if caused by "fires, storms, shipwrecks or other casualty."

When Martin Rosenberg's house suffered $1,800 worth of termite damage in 1947, he decided the law covered his loss and so deducted the item from his income tax.

The U. S. Tax Court disallowed the claim. It said several cases established that "other casualty" had to be a "sudden casualty." It added: "We cannot find under the evidence here that the damage was done suddenly or even recently."

We are left with the tantalizing thought that if the termites were just a little speedier at their work, Mr. Rosenberg might have made the grade. Anyway, it was a nice try.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S LISTS

The decision of the Supreme Court, in the cases involving the joint anti-Fascist Refugee Committee, National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, Inc., International Workers Order, Inc., is extremely important. These organizations sought their deletion from the attorney general's list of subversive organizations. Lower courts had upheld the attorney general; the Supreme Court held that these organizations had a right to sue for such deletion.

Mr. Justice Burton, who gave the majority opinion, said:

". . . To defend such a designation of them, on the basis of the complaints alone, is an assertion of presidential authority so to designate an organization at the option of the attorney general without reliance upon either disclosed or undisclosed facts supplying a reasonable basis for the determination. It is that, and only that outer limit of the authority of the attorney general that is now before up."

Further, he said:

". . . The organizations to be designated on that list are not limited to those having federal employes in their memberships. They may even exclude such employes from membership. Accordingly, the impact of the attorney general's lists is by no means limited to persons who are subject to the employes loyalty program."

The Supreme Court is only supposed to deal with what has been placed before it and therefore, if no one called the attention of the learned brethren to the facts of life, they are not expected to know anything about them. For instance, Hede Massing, Louis Budenz, Whittaker Chambers and others have testified under oath that they were part of Communist apparatuses outside the government, under the control of Soviet Russia, which were actually engaged in efforts to infiltrate our government, in which they succeeded in specific cases.

There is ample evidence of this kind of activity in the files of the FBI, the House Committee on Un-American Activities, and now the McCarran Committee, to establish the validity of the attorney general's list. What the Supreme Court has actually done is to open the door for each of these organizations—there are several hundred—to go into court to force a hearing on whether their names should or should not be on the list.

Maybe that is the only just way to do it. Justice Burton says:

". . . The acts of the attorney general and the loyalty review board, purporting to be taken by them under authority of the executive order, have seriously and irreparably impaired, and will continue to so impair, the reputation of the organization and the moral support and good will of the American people necessary for the continuance of its charitable activities. . . ."

That is precisely what the list is designed to do. In the case of one of these organizations, the International Workers Order, Inc., I have before me the brief prepared by Paul W. Williams, special counsel for the Insurance Department of the State of New York, which successfully sought to put this organization out of the insurance business. The brief shows:

"The IWO operates through a system of more than 1,600 lodges throughout the United States. These lodges fall into 16 nationality societies, which are administrative subdivisions of the IWO, having no separate corporate existence. In many cases much of the business of these societies is transacted in the language of the nationality group in question. These groups are as follows:

"American Russian Fraternal Society; Carpatho-Russian American Mutual Aid Society; Cervantes Fraternal Society; Croatian Benevolent Fraternity of America; Czech Workers Society; Douglass Lincoln Fraternal Society; Finnish American Mutual Aid Society; Garibaldi American Fraternal Society; Hellenic American Fraternal Society; Hungarian Brotherhood; Jewish Peoples Fraternal Order; Polonia Society; Roumanian American Fraternal Society; Serbian American Federation; Slovak Workers Society; Ukrainian American Fraternal Union"

The brief clearly establishes Communist propagandist activity by the International Workers Order. The attorney general is required to show "weighty reason for departing in this instance from a rule so deeply imbedded in history and in the demands of justice. Nothing in the loyalty order requires him to deny organizations opportunity to present their case. The executive order, defining his powers, directs only that designation shall be made 'after appropriate investigation and determination.' This surely does not preclude an administrative procedure, however informal, which would incorporate the essentials of due process. . . ."

The real trouble here stems from the fact that the attorney general's lists are a product of an executive order which does not define the word "subversive."

If we want really to get Communists, Marxists and Russian agents, out of the government, why not specifically define them as such?

SIGNIFICANCE OF PAINFUL FEET

It is said of one of the former presidents of the United States that he suffered so much with sore feet that he would sometimes walk away from a companion to get to a spot where he could ease them.

In many cases, the feet are as important as the head in acquiring calmness of spirit and in actually making a living. An individual suffering with sore feet would have difficulty selling himself or his product. Sore feet are a physical and mental hazard.

Every year an organization, The National Foot Council, a nonprofit foundation sponsoring the care of children's feet and industrial foot health, directs a National Foot Health Week for children and parents to prevent foot defects in childhood. This year special emphasis is placed on industrial foot care to aid the efficiency of production workers in defense work by trying to get rid of the major cause of fatigue—defective footwear that cause foot troubles and slow-downs.

After showing the financial loss to industry from sore feet, it is pointed out that old or run-over shoes cause poor posture, contribute to accidents, make corns grow painful. Surveys by the Foot Council show that 63 per cent (almost 2 out of 3) of all industrial workers lose a day or more time per month because their feet hurt. They either stay away from work or take time out to rest every hour in the hope that they can stand at the job until the whistle blows. Aching feet result in slower work, less efficiency, lost motion, errors and impairment of health. "Sufferers include store clerks, factory workers, house painters, roofers, garage mechanics, truck drivers, even dentists and nurses."

While ill-fitting shoes during childhood is a major cause of sore feet in adults, nevertheless there is a growing list of firms throughout the country who have added foot clinics to their health departments where a podiatrist or chiropodist is on duty to direct the foot care program. One plant reported that since they started a foot clinic for their employes, there has been a 12 per cent drop in absenteeism and a rise in production efficiency.

Workers are given foot health rules to follow to care for the feet such as (a) selection of flexible leather soled shoes to prevent irritation and (b) wearing paper slippers in the shower and not walking on bare floors where they may pick up fungi that cause athlete's foot.

Chip Off the Old Block

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Near the Iron Curtain, in Central Europe—The most important answer to the alarming question put before Congress recently by secretaries Marshall and Pace—"Will there be war with Russia soon?"—lies in the long stretch of barbed wire extending from the Black Sea to the Baltic which Winston Churchill named the Iron Curtain.

Most Americans, including the U. S. government, have neglected the importance of this barrier between east and west.

We have failed to realize that there will always exist the danger of war with Russia as long as this curtain exists; as long as the Moscow radio can tell the Russian people anything they want about us and the Russian people have no way of knowing the opposite; and as long as there is no free parliament, no free church, no free press, no free public opinion to prevent the Kremlin from declaring war.

We have also failed to realize that even if we fight a war with Russia and win, actually our victory will be temporary unless we can convert the Russian people to friendship with the U. S. A. Until we have done that, we shall have to fight wars all over again.

Finally we have failed to realize that Russia has never been conquered by force of arms. Napoleon tried it and got bogged down on the road to Moscow. Hitler also tried it and got swamped in front of Stalingrad.

But the Kaiser, having been stopped in Latvia, picked up Lenin in Switzerland, put him on a special train with drawn blinds, and sent him to Russia. It was after this that Russia, under a new bolshevist regime, finally surrendered.

In other words, it was propaganda and politics which really defeated the czar.

Weather Balloons

That is one reason why I have been hammering home the idea that we should use any and all kinds of propaganda, including weather balloons, to penetrate the Iron Curtain and get the truth to the people of Russia and the satellites.

No matter what else is happening inside Russia, one thing is certain. Stalin has imposed the Iron Curtain for the specific reason that he fears contact between the Russian people and the outside world.

He knows, and a small segment of the Russian people also know, how American and Soviet troops drank vodka together, toasted their mutual friendship together on the shores of the River Elbe at the end of the war.

He also knows how soldiers of the Red Army who have visited Vienna, Warsaw, Prague or even shell-shocked Berlin, have returned to tell their friends about the culture and economic progress of the free world lying beyond the Soviet border. Some of these soldiers have shown such enthusiasm over the west and such skepticism over communism that it has been necessary to isolate them, following their discharge, from their native villages.

Stalin also knows that when the Nazis advanced into Russia in 1940 the astounding total of 3,600,000 Russians surrendered to the Germans.

We in the West did not know about this wholesale surrender until after we had seized German documents and interviewed German officers after V-E Day. But Stalin knew. And he knew that the German Army never would have penetrated Russia as it did if many of the Russian people had not actually welcomed it, and if whole segments of the Red Army had not been eager to surrender.

The Kaiser's army in 1915-17 advanced only to Riga. It never actually reached the soil of Russia proper. Hitler's army in 1940 marched two-thirds of the way across Russia, right down to the Caucasus. In other words, the czar, with all his tyranny, commanded more loyalty than Stalin.

These are some of the reasons for the Iron Curtain. These also are some of the reasons why we must make the Iron Curtain a lace curtain if we are to prevent war; if we are to win permanent peace over a period of years.

Counterpropaganda

Propaganda balloons floated across the Iron Curtain have their drawbacks. If they disrupt satellite and Russian public opinion enough, the Kremlin is bound to start the rumor that they are carrying bacteriological warfare—germs aimed to ruin the crops of the Communist people.

The Kremlin may also plant a bomb with an alleged propaganda balloon, arrange to kill someone and then claim that westerners are trying to murder the Russian people.

Some counterpropaganda like this is almost certain to happen. But when two nations suffer such strained relations as the U. S. A. and U. S. S. R. you can't make those relations any worse, and sometimes revolutionary methods and radical surgery improve them. Certainly it will be true that the louder the Kremlin squawks and tries to twist the meaning of friendship messages to the Russian people, the more it is certain that such propaganda is hurting.

Freedom-friendship balloons floated across the iron curtain are not, of course, going to change the people of Russia, Czechoslovakia, Hungary overnight. But they can help. And added to the Voice of America and other propaganda, some of which cannot be written about, they can hit the Kremlin in the Achilles' heel which Stalin is worried most about—the fear that the people behind the iron curtain may get to know that we are friendly, peaceful people who will fight if necessary, but who, contrary to the Russian radio, do not want war.

'McCarthyism' Is Assailed; Thought Expressed Nobody Is Disturbed by Tendency

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 14—Nobody around here—certainly nobody except some of us liberals—seems to be disturbed about a new outburst of what appears to come dangerously near to "McCarthyism." It happens to be directed against William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Here is a man who is being accused of wrongdoing even after the loyalty board—or rather, in this case, the morality board headed by the President himself—has cleared him of any disloyalty to the administration and in fact of any wrongdoing whatsoever.

Why is it that when as high an official as the President clears the chairman of the Democratic national committee, the critics will not stay silent?

Mr. Boyle certainly has a right to be protected against smears and innuendoes. It may seem inconsequential to some observers to argue that he failed only in the matter of ethics, and this is not to be compared with the serious accusations which the Wisconsin senator, for instance, levels at State Department employes from his allegedly safe position on the floor of the Senate.

But, after all, it is important to protect the reputation a man is given in the public prints in any respect, especially if he is innocent of any unlawful conduct.

There is, moreover, no problem here of congressional immunity. Nobody in the Senate cast the first stone. It came from a newspaper in St. Louis—the Post-Dispatch—which had made its own investigation. It means, to be sure, that if the Post-Dispatch was misled or didn't have all the facts, Mr. Boyle can challenge them in his own way.

But should that be necessary, especially since Mr. Boyle now has been given a presidential clearance in a formal statement issued from the White House? Why then do the charges persist? It resembles to some extent what happens when the boards clear State Department employes and Mr. McCarthy simply doesn't let the matter rest.

Editorial after editorial of criticism has appeared in the press since Mr. Truman issued his statement of clearance and absolution. The impression is conveyed that maybe Mr. Truman didn't have all the facts. One editorial states that, after all, the statement seems to refer only to what Mr. Boyle did after he became chairman and that there is no denial that he received fees as a lawyer from the firm in question when he was the Missouri member of the Democratic National Committee.

The innuendo is that Mr. Boyle did something improper because a company from which he admittedly got a fee as lawyer happened coincidentally to be the recipient of an RFC loan. Mr. Boyle denies indignantly that he had anything to do with the presentation of any application to the RFC for a loan. He declares that he "never discussed the loan with anyone in the RFC," and adds: "In short, I had nothing to do with the granting of the loan."

Many a denial in connection with government employes accused of wrong memberships and affiliations has been equally as sweeping and just as explicit. Yet Senator McCarthy keeps on insisting nevertheless that, where there is smoke, there's fire and that the cases ought to be re-examined.

The Wisconsin senator is thereupon lambasted for mentioning in print those whose cases he thinks have not been thoroughly examined or cases in which a departmental board has done the clearance. Senator Benton of Connecticut, a Democrat, for example, is convinced that for such insistence and persistence McCarthy should be expelled from the Senate. The Wisconsin senator replies that he believes enough evidence has been gathered to "indict" various persons not in a legal sense but as a matter of public inquiry.

That's exactly what the newspapers now are saying about the Boyle case, which, of course, hasn't a thing to do with Communist activity or disloyalty of that kind. But it is directly related to the question of whether a man should be tried in the court of public opinion after he has been cleared by the government itself—the prosecuting agency—and indeed by the very head of the government.

Notwithstanding all this, various newspapers are demanding that there be a thorough investigation of the Boyle case by a Senate committee. It's all very confusing.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

New York, Aug. 13—The Marshall girls, of Marshall, Tex., could use the moral support of a million other women in their tiny but nevertheless enormous revolution against the unconstitutional impositions of the baby-sitters' and lawn-boys' Social Security racket.

The Marshall girls are a number of married women living in a nice little city in east Texas who suddenly realized that the government racket, which is trying to extort money from all the domestic "help" in the country and all the employers of that "help," was a bankrupt concern. They also realized that the racket had no constitutional right to do this. It has collected countless millions and the Roosevelt-Truman administrations have squandered every dime, dropping bonds into the damper which are then sold to the public. The taxpayers then pay interest to the holders of these bonds, and the money derived from the sale of the bonds is squandered on still further extravagance. President Truman's $50,000 tax-free graft in the guise of an expense allowance is an example. We may be confident that every dollar of the $200,000 which he will receive for the current four-year term will go into the family sock because exhaustive research in Kansas City, Washington and Key West have disclosed no evidence that El Twirpo ever bought a drink or picked up a grunt for a party.

Pear Tree Bore Four Crops of Fruit

A pear tree grown by Mr. O. G. Jones of West Plains, Mo., bore four crops of pears in one year. A late freeze killed practically all the fruits in that section and caught the pear tree when it was about to open in full bloom. All the new growth was killed and fell off. When the leaf growth appeared and was well started, a second set of blooms developed, from which a few pears remained. In two weeks, a third set of blooms appeared, and again fruit developed. About three weeks later it bloomed for the fourth time and fruit again appeared.

Crop Duster Gives Accident Scare

Campbell Hall, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—A plane crash scare struck this Orange county area today when a crop-dusting plane made an emergency landing in a field because of heavy fog.

The small plane from Central Valley came in early to dust a farmer's crops with insecticide. The fog was so thick that the pilot could not see clearly the field he was to work over, so he set his plane down in a field near the Erie Railroad viaduct. Then he went to a filling station nearby to telephone.

Passersby saw the plane land, but did not see the pilot walk away. They reported a crash but state police found the plane intact. The pilot prepared to take off on his dusting job when the fog cleared about three hours after he landed.

Man Is Accused Of Dope Transport

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Another alleged member of an international dope ring—partially smashed last month—has been accused of smuggling several million dollars' worth of narcotics into the U. S.

Federal authorities arrested Vincent Bernardini, 54, of Marseille, France, a ship's carpenter on the French freighter Pierre de Saurel, after the ship docked yesterday.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis Kaplan said Bernardini was one of 19 alleged international ring members named in warrants issued last July 27. Fourteen now are in custody.

Kaplan charged Bernardini with personally bringing into this country "several million dollars worth" of heroin during the past two or three years.

U. S. Commissioner Isaac Platt held Bernardini in $15,000 bail for a hearing Sept. 6. The seaman is charged with conspiracy to violate the narcotics laws by aiding in the importation and distribution of heroin in the U. S.

Leaves for Auckland

Wellington, N. Z., Aug. 14 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York leaves Wellington tomorrow for Auckland, and will board a plane there Thursday for the Fiji Islands on his return trip from his fact- finding tour of the east. The Republican leader told a reporter he will be "happy to see President Truman on my return to the States and pass on first hand reports of my findings in the Pacific."

Remodeling Cost Double

Trout Creek, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—A school house which cost $500 to build in 1899 will be remodeled at a cost of $1,000. Frank M. Clark of Oneonta, the contractor who built the frame school, recalls he paid two carpenters, $1 a day, plus board, and worked them 18 hours a day. They finished the job in 20 days.

Don't Blame Fate If You Don't Win

Fate punishes me whenever I step out of line," complains a Miami reader. "I know that I didn't have an opening bid with the South hand, but I couldn't resist the 150 honors. Maybe I shouldn't complain, however, because I made a 50-point profit on the hand.

"West opened the queen of hearts, and I played dummy's king. East ruffed, of course, and I later had to lose two diamonds and a club. Maybe North should have bid three no-trump instead of four spades, but I cannot tell a lie—I'd have bid four spades anyway. Is there any reasonable way of getting to three no-trump with this hand?

I'm afraid there is no sure way of stopping at three no-trump with this hand. It's easy enough to do so when you can see all the cards, but the chances are that most experts would want to play the hand at spades.

Incidentally, most experts would

	NORTH 14 ♠ 7 3 ♥ A K 7 4 3 ♦ A 10 9 ♣ A 7 2
WEST ♠ 6 2 ♥ Q J 10 9 8 5 ♦ K Q 3 ♣ K 8		EAST ♠ 9 8 4 ♥ None ♦ J 8 5 4 ♣ Q J 10 9 5 4

open the hand with one spade, just as my correspondent did. It may not be a "book" opening bid, but so much the worse for the books. Hence my correspondent can't blame Fate and shouldn't worry about stepping out of line. The truth is that he should have made his contract of four spades.

The correct play is to play a low heart from dummy at the first trick. After all, the bidding warns you that East is likely to be void of hearts. West holds the first trick with his queen of hearts (East cannot gain by ruffing, of course) and continues with the jack of hearts. Once more dummy plays low.

West continues hearts, and this time South can ruff in his own hand. Now declarer draws trumps and enters dummy with a club or a diamond to cash the ace and king of hearts. South discards his two losing diamonds on the top hearts, thus getting back the two tricks he seemed to be giving up. This line of play assures South of six trump tricks, two hearts, one diamond, and one club. Ten tricks, no matter how you count them.

Man Rests Comfortably

St. Jovite, Que., Aug. 14 (AP)—Rupert T. Zickle, accidentally shot while hunting in a remote section of the Quebec bushland, rested comfortably in a hospital here today. Following the accident, it took 24 hours to get Zickle, whose home is in (20 Macy Ave.) White Plains, N. Y., to safety. Two doctors, both expert bushmen, carried out the rescue. They said Zickle was not as seriously injured as at first feared. No operation will be necessary. Zickle, president of Sakaigan Hunting and Fishing Club in an isolated section of the Laurentian Mountains, was wounded early Sunday while he and his party, including his 16-year-old son, Ranby, were getting into a boat. It is believed someone stumbled, knocking over a gun which was discharged. Zickle was wounded in the left hand and abdomen.

Gas Bombs Dropped

Moscow, Aug. 14 (AP)—Moscow newspapers and radio today claimed the Americans have dropped poison gas bombs in Korea. The reports said a protest has been sent to the United Nations. They claimed the bombs were dropped on Aug. 1 and Aug. 7, and that deaths have resulted from chemical poisoning.

Building Inspector Accused by Jury

Babylon, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—A Suffolk county grand jury yesterday accused the Babylon town building inspector, Albert H. Nass, of shaking down contractors for at least $565.

An indictment listed 15 counts against him of unlawfully accepting money plus 15 counts of extortion.

Nass was not arrested and no warrant was issued. However, his attorney, Herman J. McCarthy, was directed to surrender him Monday for arraignment before County Judge D. Ormond Ritchie.

Nass, 46, of adjacent Lindenhurst, has been building inspector for the Babylon town area for 12 years. Prominent in Republican politics here, he was appointed by the town board.

The indictment alleges the money was collected from May 21, 1950, to June 25, 1951, from five contractors and builders who needed permits from the inspector.

Nass is accused of taking from $5 to $120 apiece from the five.

The grand jury has been investigating the matter for more than a month and has heard a score or more of witnesses.

Silver Star Awarded

Tokyo, Aug. 14 (AP)—Far East Air Force headquarters announced today the Silver Star was awarded a pilot who attacked a concentration of some 2,000 Korean Reds and freed an allied unit from encirclement. Lt. Stanley D. Wyman, New Rochelle, N. Y., was credited with dispersing the Communist force by repeated attacks with his B-26 in the face of withering ground fire—and after the plane was hit. The action occurred during one of the two ill-fated Communist spring offensives, but no date was given. Hyman has flown 60 night missions. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. Hyman of New Rochelle.

Pills May Be Way Of Fighting Clots, Aiding Frostbites

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Pills that dissolve in your mouth may be a new way of fighting blood clots in heart patients, or saving frostbitten soldiers from amputations.

The new pills contain heparin, a blood-thinning drug. Heretofore, heparin has been given only by injection.

Heparin often is used for heart patients, to dissolve potentially fatal clots in blood vessels. Such clots also may form after childbirth.

In frostbite, a major winter hazard of soldiers in Korea, tiny blood vessels in toes or fingers may become clogged, and the tissue dies, necessitating amputations. Heparin thins the blood to prevent clogging, but soldiers usually can't get it until they reach a hospital. Someday they may be able to carry the pills for emergency use.

The first human experiments with the pill form of heparin was described in the proceedings of the Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine by Drs. Joseph Litwins, Jefferson J. Vorzimer, Leon N. Sussman and A. David Etess, and a chemist, Norman Applezweig, of Beth Israel Hospital here.

Tried on 100

They tried it on 100 patients, most of them normal people, and said the tablets worked efficiently to thin the blood. The tasteless tablets, placed under the tongue, dissolve in 10 minutes and the heparin takes effect in about an hour.

More tests are underway, they said, to test the effectiveness in heart cases and other conditions. A main value is quick ease of administration.

Only a small amount of the heparin tablets have been produced, by Winthrop-Stearns, Inc., for experimental studies.

Oh, My Goodness!

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—A young woman walked into the Red Cross office here during a bloodmobile drive. She gave her name and was whisked from department to department for a physical checkup. Finally she reached the donor room and saw people on cots. "Why do I have to go through all these tests to get a pair of shoes for my baby?" she asked. She had been looking for the home service department.

Crop Duster Gives Accident Scare

Campbell Hall, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—A plane crash scare struck this Orange county area today when a crop-dusting plane made an emergency landing in a field because of heavy fog.

The small plane from Central Valley came in early to dust a farmer's crops with insecticide. The fog was so thick that the pilot could not see clearly the field he was to work over, so he set his plane down in a field near the Erie Railroad viaduct. Then he went to a filling station nearby to telephone.

Passersby saw the plane land, but did not see the pilot walk away. They reported a crash but state police found the plane intact. The pilot prepared to take off on his dusting job when the fog cleared about three hours after he landed.

The Singing Corpse

By FRANK TRIPP

My preacher friend was telling some of the unusual incidents that ave marked his career. His story of the darts has the makings of a uproarious farce. That of the singing corpse falls more into the elodramatic category.

There hung in the palatial liv- g room of a wealthy couple a inting of the wife's grandfather, ho in life had been a stern New ngland preacher. The picture d those haunting eyes that fol- w one about the room in accus- g fashion, and there was a Bible grandfather's hands.

The master of the house was a equent and copious imbiber. On uch occasions his hatred of the ig painting approached a mania.

My preacher friend, who majored in psychology, could tell why. His knowledge made him master of a serious, yet hilarious, situation.

At the height of every family spat the wife would berate her tipsy husband, point to grandfather and lament, "Why couldn't I have married a man like that?" Hubby developed a will to kill and regretted that he had only grandfather's picture to slay.

Late one night the wife phoned her pastor and demanded his immediate presence to witness an outrageous indignity, an unpardonable insult to her grandpappy; that he might be able to justify her decision to leave her husband's bed and board.

THAT EVENING hubby had come home two sheets to the wind and brought a pal with him. He provided Scotch, soda and ice cubes and put them on a coffee table in front of a sofa which faced grandfather's picture over the mantel.

Then hubby and pal settled into the luxury of the surroundings and went about emptying the bottle; which they did and replaced it with another.

In the small but noisy talk of such occasions, pal asked hubby whose picture that was on the wall. It was a mistake, for it focused hubby upon his obsession and things began to happen.

After a spirited explanation of who the old so-and-so was, pal developed a sobbing sympathy for his henpecked host and they walked arm in arm to the children's play room to cry it out. There a vicious idea hit hubby. He saw a dart game on the wall, and a tray full of feathery darts.

They went back to the sofa, took the darts with them and cooked up a little contest to pass away the time. The idea was to put a dart into grandpappy's nose. The first to do so was to get five bucks from the other.

Their marksmanship was understandably poor and they emptied the tray three times without hitting the target. On the fourth round, by pure accident, hubby landed a dart square on the old boy's proboscis.

It gave him such glee that a whoop went up, which awakened the wife and she appeared on the scene. To find her previous painting perforated like a sieve and the winning dart projecting from the grandfather's snozzle.

That was the setting the parson was summoned to witness. He got a taxi for pal; hubby said he'd restore the heirloom and wifey agreed to move it to her own sitting room.

ONE THAT the parson couldn't do anything about was the singing corpse. As he was about to start a funeral service the lady whose Aunt Sally was being buried said that there was to be singing, and would the minister please nod to her at the proper time.

Aunt Sally may have been worthy of some special mention but the preacher hadn't known her in life, so stuck to his knitting. He was suspicious from the surroundings that something unusual might happen and that the singing had something to do with it, but he wasn't ready for the surprise he got.

The time came for the music and the parson nodded. Then he was startled out of his wits when Aunt Sally began to sing from her casket.

Her departing message to neighbors and kin, in sturdy contralto, was three stanzas each of which ended, "Heaven is my home and I'll be coming soon."

Out in the kitchen was a phonograph, connected to a loud speaker that the ingenious head of the bereaved household had tucked alongside Aunt Sally.

Rules Should Be Followed

"Please settle a dispute," requets a Portland, (Ore.) correspondent. "I was the dealer the other night, and happened to have a red three in my hand. When my first turn came, the player at my right had discarded a black three. Even if I replaced my red three at that time I couldn't possibly get the discard pile. Therefore I decided to let the red three stay in my hand.

"At my next turn, the top discard was a king. I had one king in my hand. In my opinion, this was the time to put down my red three and draw a new card. I might not get the other king that I needed, but at least I had something to shoot for.

"As it happened, I did draw another king. Since I also had the count, I wanted to pick up the discard pile. I put my two kings down, together with the count, and tried to take the pile. You should have heard the fuss my opponents raised.

"To be brief, they wouldn't let me take the pile. They said I had to draw from the stock pile. Is this really the rule, or did I get jobbed?"

The opponents were right. My Portland friend had no right to take the discard pile. His only right was to draw the top card of the stock pile in this situation.

To begin with, he had no right to let the red three stay in his hand. I didn't matter that he couldn't pick up the discard pile that time. He had absolutely no choice. He had a red three in his hand and it was up to him to put it on the table and replace it then and there, not at any later turn.

When he let the three stay in his hand, he was deliberately breaking the rules. Of course he didn't mean any harm, but it's considered very bad form in any card game to break a rule deliberately. Among experienced card players, that sort of thing isn't much better than using marked cards. Casual card players don't take it so seriously of course, but it's still the wrong thing to do.

If you break one rule deliberately, somebody else may break another rule. In a short time the result is complete confusion.

That is the reason for the law. The law itself is quite clear on the point: "If a player makes the correction (puts down a red three that he should have put down at an earlier turn) before drawing, he must at that turn draw from the stock and may not take the discard pile."

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

The mention of the Geo. B. Merritt and Co. store, one door north of St. John's Church on Wall street as taken from their adv. of the Kingston Weekly Freeman and Journal, of Thursday, April 22, 1886, brought more response than I anticipated. Some remembered a Merritt store nearer to North Front street. Finally one lady told me that she was sure there were two Merritt stores on Wall street. I guess the only way to be sure is to go through some of the old Kingston City directories. Several of my readers disagree as to the location of T. D. Lewis, the photographer. Some say Short's Photo Studio was on Wall street at the time, which is now being run by his daughter on the Strand. It would be difficult to give everyone's version of the location of each store, unless, they, like Myron Teller, wrote me a letter and gave me a diagram and signed their name. Then the winner could pick up the marbles.

Talking to a lady about the trips up and down the Hudson on the Dayline, she said she remembered one on the Alexander Hamilton some 10 or 15 years ago. It was a beautiful day, but when they were around Yonkers, suddenly they heard a crash and a loud breaking sound. It seems a log got into the wheel, and it took some two hours to get it out. It caused quite a lot of excitement on the boat, and most of the passengers were very disappointed with the trip, as the two hours lost spoiled their visit to the big city.

Another time, coming home on the Homer Ramsdell, again about near Yonkers, a storm came up with flashes of lightning and such a dark sky that suddenly from nowhere loomed up a boat coming from Albany. It came straight across their bow, so it seemed. She was not sure how or why it happened. It was thought that the pilot was suddenly dazed or hit by lightning, and losing control of the wheel it spun around in front of their boat. Anyway, there was no accident but a terrible scare. Women screamed, some fainted and everyone was upset. The Homer Ramsdell from then on, crept along in the bad thunder shower, blowing her whistle continually all the way home, and instead of docking at Rondout around 10:30 or so, they crept in round 3 a. m. Perhaps some other readers remember these incidents more vividly, or have clippings of them.

She also brought me a printed sheet covering the purchasing power of the dollar, in the 100 years from 1850 to 1950. Sad looking graph. It says in part: "You need about $3.00 today to buy what one dollar would have bought in 1900. Even in 1900, you would have had to spend about $1.50 to buy what one dollar would have bought in 1850." The chart is derived from the cost of living index of the Federal Reserve Bank of N. Y. "In almost every generation, people who saved any specific amount of money for retirement or for other purposes ended up with less buying power than they thought they'd have . . . because the purchasing power of their dollars continued to decline." More from this chart another time.

The Singing Corpse

My preacher friend was telling some of the unusual incidents that ave marked his career. His story of the darts has the makings of n uproarious farce. That of the singing corpse falls more into the elodramatic category.

Dismissed Cadets Offered Chance to Enter 3 Colleges

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Many of the 90 accused West Point cadets—who had been wondering where to go after leaving the Academy—were reported elated today over Francis Cardinal Spellman's announcement they could enroll in three Roman Catholic men's colleges.

Last night the cardinal, saying "to err is human, to forgive divine," opened the doors of the three schools in his archdiocese.

Many of the cadets involved in the cheating scandal—subject to the draft unless they continue their studies elsewhere—said they would give Cardinal Spellman's offer "serious consideration."

One said, "the first good news we've had."

Another commented, "that man really has a heart."

Some cadets have said that colleges appear "afraid" to accept them. Many educators say it is not fear but merely routine policy on transfers.

The cardinal's statement came as many of the 90 were preparing today to leave the Academy for their homes. They are accused of violating the West Point honor code by cheating on examinations.

The cardinal asked the presidents of the three schools—Fordham University, Manhattan College and Iona College—"to accept any of these students who may apply to them for admission."

He added that the heads of the schools "have consented to my request."

Dismissed Cadets Offered Chance to Enter 3 Colleges

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Many of the 90 accused West Point cadets—who had been wondering where to go after leaving the Academy—were reported elated today over Francis Cardinal Spellman's announcement they could enroll in three Roman Catholic men's colleges.

Last night the cardinal, saying "to err is human, to forgive divine," opened the doors of the three schools in his archdiocese.

Many of the cadets involved in the cheating scandal—subject to the draft unless they continue their studies elsewhere—said they would give Cardinal Spellman's offer "serious consideration."

One said, "the first good news we've had."

Another commented, "that man really has a heart."

Some cadets have said that colleges appear "afraid" to accept them. Many educators say it is not fear but merely routine policy on transfers.

The cardinal's statement came as many of the 90 were preparing today to leave the Academy for their homes. They are accused of violating the West Point honor code by cheating on examinations.

The cardinal asked the presidents of the three schools—Fordham University, Manhattan College and Iona College—"to accept any of these students who may apply to them for admission."

He added that the heads of the schools "have consented to my request."

As Pegler Sees It

Field, the notorious Communist who is now in jail, and that Field's wife, by due process, moved from Field's bed to Joe's, you can evaluate more accurately the ethics and motives of the New York Herald Tribune. In his fatuous work "Mission to Moscow," papercollar Joe Davies, Roosevelt's yes-man at the Kremlin, wrote that Mrs. Barnes was even more so than Joe Barnes, himself.

The Herald Tribune would give little weight to the fact that the payments are not payable to any insurance fund but to the collector of internal revenue. This means that the Truman political machine deliberately wants to get its hands on the money and embezzle it for its own corrupt political projects. The collector of internal revenue doesn't run this insurance company. Why then does he want to get his hands on these millions? To pay the wages of a lot of queeries in the State Department? To pay the wages and expenses of a lot of thick-necked Secret Service men to guard Margaret Truman when she goes around squawking to run up her private income? The Marshall Girls know that these collections are being spent for the running expenses of a terrible conspiracy which already has printed so many sheets of dollars, ten-spots and double-saws that the only force which makes them acceptable for meat, shelter and clothing is the psychology of the people. We have always held them in respect and can't get over the habit, but in time we would.

Let nobody tell you this is a puny revolution because it is small. If a million other girls join, they will make bums of all the collectors and district attorneys who try to make them trouble. If they sit on their hands, make out no returns, pay no money of their own and deduct no money from their "help," they will win. This is the most important and inviting chance to smash the menace of the Monster State that has ever been presented to the women of the United States.

The Marshall Girls are not frivolous, vain women doing this for publicity. They are fine Americans. It is an honor to plead their cause.

No Head Colds Allowed

Omaha (AP)—Railroad travelers with head colds would have to give Omaha a wide berth if authorities should decide to dust off one musty ordinance on the city's books. It requires railroad conductors to wire ahead if any passenger show signs of the sniffles or other symptoms of contagious disease. Another zany law cited by Dr. Edwin D. Lyman, acting city-county health director, permits arrest of a householder who is unfortunate enough to have a damp basement. Dr. Lyman says he's not prepared to try to enforce these outdated ordinances.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

FESTIVAL
By J. B. Priestley

Here is a book which, if you take it in a leisurely manner, will provide a good two weeks' entertainment. For this is Priestly at his best in a wise and witty tale of many strange episodes in the ordinary little town of Farbridge in the English midlands.

In this year of England's Festival, the solid citizens of Farbridge had voted down a town festival because they considered it a too great extravagance. But that was before self-styled "Commodore" Horace Tribe, soldier of fortune, genius and thoroughly likeable charlatan, ignomously removed from his latest job and in debt, met up quite by chance in the Old Oak Nook in Farbridge with pretty, hot-tempered little Laura Casey who had just thrown up her secretarial position with a law firm, after telling off the senior partner in a manner which he really deserved, and young Theodore Jenks, a handsome, blonde giant, and planned a daring program which turned Farbridge inside out but ended gloriously.

Theodore Jenks came from Indonesia. All of his people were English except for one Chinese grandmother of whom he was very proud. He had fought in the war in the East Indies, both of his parents had died, followed by his grandfather, who left him a modest inheritance and suggested in his will that he visit England. He went first to London and stayed at the Renders Hotel in Mayfair—a Mid-Victorian horror. There was electricity, but no other modern convenience. "The waiters and porters were studies in senile decay. Ancient chambermaids tottered along the corridors, carrying brass cans of tepid water. Everything in the dining room was gigantic, except the helping. * * * To ask one of the waiters to bring a cruet was almost to commit manslaughter. The guests were no younger. Enammelled Edwardian beauties went creaking through the public rooms. Wheezy, pop-eyed old bucks dropped into faded plush chairs, lit cigars and called for pink gins, while their blood pressure went rocketing up." It exhausted robust Theodore just to watch them. However one of the guests, Sir Gervais Chesby, had known his grandfather and took him to museums and art galleries which was pure joy after the dullness of his hotel and the drab London streets.

Sir Gervais also introduced him to his young actress niece and her brother who was a journalist. They put him through a dizzy whirl of club meetings, a party for an American film star, where he almost drowned in champagne, a first performance of a new play in which the niece appeared and there was much drinking between the acts, left Theodore in a mood to gladly accept an invitation from one of the guests to visit his factory near Farbridge and that brings us back to the meeting of the three conspirators at the Old Oak Nook. For conspirators they turned out to be. Spearheaded by the Commodore they proceeded to work up such enthusiasm for a Festival as to make those solid citizens reverse their decision and vote for it overwhelmingly. The schemes and methods used to bring this about were often more artful than honest, but the Commodore was an intriguing old rascal and pulled off one deal after another with apparent ease. Laura worked furiously and Theodore did his full share, especially in getting the landed gentry in the neighborhood to act as sponsors. That required a background of respectability, which he had.

Theodore and Michael Seacombe, the local journalist both fall in love with Laura. A misunderstanding about the hour of a meeting in London of Theodore and Laura almost puts Theodore out of the running and gives Michael a chance of which he makes skillful use. But a happy ending is achieved through the good offices of Laura's father who turns up after a long absence in the nick of time.

There are other romances in this long story with many, many characters, described by the author with a few deft strokes so that each comes alive. For instance the wife of Major Bulfoss was described as "a pretty woman with yellow curls, no nose and enormous, silly blue eyes that might rain with tears at any moment." She ran away from her husband with extremely wealthy Arthur Hatchet-Ferrers—"a fat, white, Humpty-Dumpty sort of man with a pouting underlip, looking like a vast bleached baby." No wonder each soon tired of the other. It was the Commodore who, with amazing tact and diplomacy cleared that situation up and returned the erring wife to the Major. The Commodore didn't do so well with his own affair with the elusive Grace. Just when all seemed well with them she would mysteriously disappear. It was Theodore who learned what was back of her strange behavior.

The proprietor of the White Hart is described as a "strongly-built man with a square, clean-shaven mottled face out of which two tiny blue eyes stared like indignant forget-me-not." The old manager of the theatre with his hair and mustache dyed blue-black and his waxen pallor looked as though "about to be embalmed."

The romance of the beautiful Phillipa and Group Captain Trevone is finally brought to a climax by the Captain's sincere but blundering declaration just when Phillipa had about given up hope. The meeting of beautiful, tragic Helen Weekes (whose sweetheart was killed in the war) with a former friend, leader of the orchestra at the Festival brings happiness to both of them.

Altogether big, gaudy Farbridge Festival was a complete success and solved many knotty problems for the town and its citizens.

Friendly Challenge

Drive at least two new cars, this time, before you buy—and be sure one of them is a new 1951 Packard!

And why do we issue this challenge? The two best reasons in the world:

1 Until you drive a new 1951 Packard, you just don't know what's been happening in the automotive world.

2 The best advertising is "word-of-mouth" advertising. It's to our advantage to start you talking about the advancements that make Packard the newest new car of the year.

P.S. Today's most thoughtful buyers will gladly accept this challenge.

New 1951 Packard Patrician '400'—most advanced motor car in America.
Car details as shown subject to change without notice.

Some "eye-openers" that await you on your Packard "Challenge Drive":

Top-compression power: New Packard Thunderbolt Engines give you the efficiency of America's highest-compression eights. Plus: service-free simplicity—up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power.

New kind of vision: Packard's new, low-level bonnet gives real "close-up" visibility.

Ultramatic Drive—a Packard exclusive combining the smoothness of no gear-changing during acceleration with the efficiency of no slippage when cruising.

New steering magic: New ideas in steering design and weight distribution let you maneuver a Packard with as little effort as it takes to turn a door knob!

New everything: All backed by motordom's greatest durability record. Fact: Of all the Packards built, in the last 32 years, over 50% are still in service!

It's more than a car—it's a PACKARD

As Pegler Sees It

Field, the notorius Communist who is now in jail, and that Field's wife, by due process, moved from Field's bed to Joe's, you can evaluate more accurately the ethics and motives of the New York Herald Tribune. In his fatuous work "Mission to Moscow," papercollar Joe Davies, Roosevelt's yes-man at the Kremlin, wrote that Mrs. Barnes was even more so than Joe Barnes, himself.

The Herald Tribune would give little weight to the fact that the payments are not payable to any insurance fund but to the collector of internal revenue. This means that the Truman political machine deliberately wants to get its hands on the money and embezzle it for its own corrupt political projects. The collector of internal revenue doesn't run this insurance company. Why then does he want to get his hands on these millions? To pay the wages of a lot of queeries in the State Department? To pay the wages and expenses of a lot of thick-necked Secret Service men to guard Margaret Truman when she goes around squawking to run up her private income? The Marshall Girls know that these collections are being spent for the running expenses of a terrible conspiracy which already has printed so many sheets of dollars, ten-spots and double-saws that the only force which makes them acceptable for meat, shelter and clothing is the psychology of the people. We have always held them in respect and can't get over the habit, but in time we would.

Let nobody tell you this is a puny revolution because it is small. If a million other girls join, they will make bums of all the collectors and district attorneys who try to make them trouble. If they sit on their hands, make out no returns, pay no money of their own and deduct no money from their "help," they will win. This is the most important and inviting chance to smash the menace of the Monster State that has ever been presented to the women of the United States.

The Marshall Girls are not frivolous, vain women doing this for publicity. They are fine Americans. It is an honor to plead their cause.

No Head Colds Allowed

Omaha (AP)—Railroad travelers with head colds would have to give Omaha a wide berth if authorities should decide to dust off one musty ordinance on the city's books. It requires railroad conductors to wire ahead if any passenger show signs of the sniffles or other symptoms of contagious disease. Another zany law cited by Dr. Edwin D. Lyman, acting city-county health director, permits arrest of a householder who is unfortunate enough to have a damp basement. Dr. Lyman says he's not prepared to try to enforce these outdated ordinances.

BOOK REVIEW

To further increase interest in the Kingston Library the following review by Mrs. G. Cramer Dodge is published.

FESTIVAL
By J. B. Priestley

Here is a book which, if you take it in a leisurely manner, will provide a good two weeks' entertainment. For this is Priestly at his best in a wise and witty tale of many strange episodes in the ordinary little town of Farbridge in the English midlands.

In this year of England's Festival, the solid citizens of Farbridge had voted down a town festival because they considered it a too great extravagance. But that was before self-styled "Commodore" Horace Tribe, soldier of fortune, genius and thoroughly likeable charlatan, ignomously removed from his latest job and in debt, met up quite by chance in the Old Oak Nook in Farbridge with pretty, hot-tempered little Laura Casey who had just thrown up her secretarial position with a law firm, after telling off the senior partner in a manner which he really deserved, and young Theodore Jenks, a handsome, blonde giant, and planned a daring program which turned Farbridge inside out but ended gloriously.

Theodore Jenks came from Indonesia. All of his people were English except for one Chinese grandmother of whom he was very proud. He had fought in the war in the East Indies, both of his parents had died, followed by his grandfather, who left him a modest inheritance and suggested in his will that he visit England. He went first to London and stayed at the Renders Hotel in Mayfair—a Mid-Victorian horror. There was electricity, but no other modern convenience. "The waiters and porters were studies in senile decay. Ancient chambermaids tottered along the corridors, carrying brass cans of tepid water. Everything in the dining room was gigantic, except the helping. * * * To ask one of the waiters to bring a cruet was almost to commit manslaughter. The guests were no younger. Enammelled Edwardian beauties went creaking through the public rooms. Wheezy, pop-eyed old bucks dropped into faded plush chairs, lit cigars and called for pink gins, while their blood pressure went rocketing up." It exhausted robust Theodore just to watch them. However one of the guests, Sir Gervais Chesby, had known his grandfather and took him to museums and art galleries which was pure joy after the dullness of his hotel and the drab London streets.

Sir Gervais also introduced him to his young actress niece and her brother who was a journalist. They put him through a dizzy whirl of club meetings, a party for an American film star, where he almost drowned in champagne, a first performance of a new play in which the niece appeared and there was much drinking between the acts, left Theodore in a mood to gladly accept an invitation from one of the guests to visit his factory near Farbridge and that brings us back to the meeting of the three conspirators at the Old Oak Nook. For conspirators they turned out to be. Spearheaded by the Commodore they proceeded to work up such enthusiasm for a Festival as to make those solid citizens reverse their decision and vote for it overwhelmingly. The schemes and methods used to bring this about were often more artful than honest, but the Commodore was an intriguing old rascal and pulled off one deal after another with apparent ease. Laura worked furiously and Theodore did his full share, especially in getting the landed gentry in the neighborhood to act as sponsors. That required a background of respectability, which he had.

Theodore and Michael Seacombe, the local journalist both fall in love with Laura. A misunderstanding about the hour of a meeting in London of Theodore and Laura almost puts Theodore out of the running and gives Michael a chance of which he makes skillful use. But a happy ending is achieved through the good offices of Laura's father who turns up after a long absence in the nick of time.

There are other romances in this long story with many, many characters, described by the author with a few deft strokes so that each comes alive. For instance the wife of Major Bulfoss was described as "a pretty woman with yellow curls, no nose and enormous, silly blue eyes that might rain with tears at any moment." She ran away from her husband with extremely wealthy Arthur Hatchet-Ferrers—"a fat, white, Humpty-Dumpty sort of man with a pouting underlip, looking like a vast bleached baby." No wonder each soon tired of the other. It was the Commodore who, with amazing tact and diplomacy cleared that situation up and returned the erring wife to the Major. The Commodore didn't do so well with his own affair with the elusive Grace. Just when all seemed well with them she would mysteriously disappear. It was Theodore who learned what was back of her strange behavior.

The proprietor of the White Hart is described as a "strongly-built man with a square, clean-shaven mottled face out of which two tiny blue eyes stared like indignant forget-me-not." The old manager of the theatre with his hair and mustache dyed blue-black and his waxen pallor looked as though "about to be embalmed."

The romance of the beautiful Phillipa and Group Captain Trevone is finally brought to a climax by the Captain's sincere but blundering declaration just when Phillipa had about given up hope. The meeting of beautiful, tragic Helen Weekes (whose sweetheart was killed in the war) with a former friend, leader of the orchestra at the Festival brings happiness to both of them.

Altogether big, gaudy Farbridge Festival was a complete success and solved many knotty problems for the town and its citizens.

Williams to Star In Murder Thriller 'Night Must Fall'

Taking the stage at the Woodstock Playhouse this week will be a psychological murder thriller, Night Must Fall, by Emlyn Williams of The Corn Is Green fame, who starred in the former's Broadway and London hit productions.

The season's versatile favorite, Van Williams, will play Dan, the bellhop, whose compulsion to slaughter elderly women is only equalled by his power to charm and fascinate them.

Character actress Dorothy McLaughin, who was seen last week as the literary mother in the late George Bernard Shaw's You Never Can Tell, will play Dan's victim, Mrs. Bramson, a wealthy hypochondriac.

Jane Lloyd-Jones, last seen as the Duchess in Tovarich, has been cast as Olivia, Mrs. Bramson's love-starved niece. Heywood Hale Broun will play her dull suitor, Hubert.

The role of Dan's nemesis, Inspector Belsize, has been taken over by Howard Caine, who is known as a crime specialist on both sides of the law by radio and television audiences.

Deirdre Owens, whose charming performance so captivated audiences last week, will play Dan's cast-off sweetheart, Dora.

The play itself, never intended as a "who-done-it," finds its suspense in audience reaction to the killer's mental processes, and in the other characters halting discovery of his identity.

OBLIGATIONS OF BRIDE'S FAMILY

A reader asks: "What is the obligation of the bride's family to those of the groom when they are strangers in town? His family are, of course, paying their own hotel bill but her family would like to be hospitable."

It is the bride's family who are considered as having the position of hosts at the wedding to the bridegroom's family. However this does not mean that that they have any material obligations further than showing what hospitality they readily can. Much as they might like to invite them to meals, they are never obligated to do so because, as everyone knows, their household is very busy. It would be hospitable to offer them light afternoon tea or similar casual refreshments, whenever they come (as they certainly will want to) to see the presents.

She Is Hostess and Pays

Dear Mrs. Post: If a girl asks a man to go to her club dance, is she supposed to buy the tickets even though he is someone she sees often and occasionally is free to suggest where she'd like to go. The club dance is for a local charity.

Answer: Regardless of how much she sees him she is hostess for the evening and should really buy the tickets.

Stockingless in Office

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it bad taste to go without stockings to a business office when the legs are as brown as any stockings? Does it matter that the toes show through the shoes—which, in fact, would be the only giveaway that stockings are missing? I am not comfortable in closed-toe shoes, particularly in hot weather.

Answer: If you wear open-toed shoes, you very certainly must wear stockings. With closed-toed shoes and deeply tanned legs, lack of stockings would not be noticed and therefore would be permissible.

Mount Holyoke Gets Big Bequest

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—A $1,000,000 bequest to Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., was announced yesterday by the attorneys for the state of the late Newcomb Cleveland, of Scarsdale, N. Y.

A retired chairman of the board of the Erickson, Inc., national advertising agency, Cleveland died July 29 at his home.

The law firm of Phillips and Avery told of the $1,000,000 bequest after announcing that Cleveland's will was filed yesterday in the White Plains surrogate court.

The gift is to be held by the college in perpetuity, the lawyers said, to be invested under the direction of its trustees. The income from the investments is to be used for general purposes of the college, including scholarships, they added.

The lawyers said Cleveland had founded scholarships at Mount Holyoke during his lifetime and had made other donations to the college.

Also announced was a $25,000 gift to the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The will stipulates that the income from this gift and part of the principal, if necessary, be used to continue a $1,000 annual prize for a notable contribution to science.

The annual award was made anonymously while Cleveland was alive.

Hereafter it is to be called "The Newcomb Cleveland Prize."

Woodstock String Quartet to Give Concert Of 'Exceptional Chronological Interest'

The Woodstock String Quartet's August 15th concert in St. James parish hall will be "a program of exceptional chronological interest" according to Engelbert Roentgen, director. The concert will include works by the modern, Debussy, Milhaud, who has been termed "ultra-modern," and by the last, and perhaps greatest of all the romantic composers, Brhams.

Ilse Sass, pianist, and for several seasons a familiar figure to Ulster county audiences, accompanied by Mr. Roentgen, will play Sonata for piano and cello by Debussy. She will also accompany the Quartet in Brahms Quintet for piano, two violins, viola and cello.

Debussy's music is always eminently individual and poetic. He became the leader in the movement toward impressionistic expression, which he used not only for its pictorial effect, but as an embodiment of the delicate, subtle nuances of inner experience. Debussy never hesitated to diverge from the established notions of tonal construction, but rather sought novel harmonic successions which tended toward vague rhythmic patterns. All these qualities are strong in his Sonata for piano and cello. The composition, which dates back to 1915, is played without interruption.

'Ultra Modern' Composition

During Wednesday's concert the Quartet will play an ultra-modern composition by Darius Milhaud, a well-known French composer. The piece, his String Quartet No. 7, consists of four sections, which apparently hold no cohesive significance. Instead, each movement is a musical sketch, expressing different moods, intricate in harmony, in the individual progression of the four instruments. It requires a delicate and intelligent projection, as well as perfect understanding on the part of each player.

The second movement is, rhythmically speaking, extremely complicated. Its vascillating time produces an impression of uncertainty, and hesitance. The third movement, rather reflective and transparent in texture, is the least complicated, while the final movement is quick, gay, and reminiscent of a French country dance.

Among the Greatest

Brahms' Piano Quintet, meanwhile, has been classified as among the greatest chamber music compositions. It requires of each player, moreover, the greatest technical skill, power of expression, endurance, devotion, and deep understanding. It is known as a musical Colossus.

The Quartet's final concert Wednesday, Aug. 22, will, quartet members feel, climax the '51 season. Dr. Leon Batzin, known as both a musician and an educator, will appear with the group as guest artist.

The program will include Brahms, Turina, and Mendelssohn.

Williams to Star In Murder Thriller 'Night Must Fall'

Taking the stage at the Woodstock Playhouse this week will be a psychological murder thriller, Night Must Fall, by Emlyn Williams of The Corn Is Green fame, who starred in the former's Broadway and London hit productions.

The season's versatile favorite, Van Williams, will play Dan, the bellhop, whose compulsion to slaughter elderly women is only equalled by his power to charm and fascinate them.

Character actress Dorothy McLaughin, who was seen last week as the literary mother in the late George Bernard Shaw's You Never Can Tell, will play Dan's victim, Mrs. Bramson, a wealthy hypochondriac.

Jane Lloyd-Jones, last seen as the Duchess in Tovarich, has been cast as Olivia, Mrs. Bramson's love-starved niece. Heywood Hale Broun will play her dull suitor, Hubert.

The role of Dan's nemesis, Inspector Belsize, has been taken over by Howard Caine, who is known as a crime specialist on both sides of the law by radio and television audiences.

Deirdre Owens, whose charming performance so captivated audiences last week, will play Dan's cast-off sweetheart, Dora.

The play itself, never intended as a "who-done-it," finds its suspense in audience reaction to the killer's mental processes, and in the other characters halting discovery of his identity.

Busy Pair for Central Hudson

Their biggest job was an information one. Murray Wigsten, left, Central Hudson Farm Representative and his assistant James Hallock plan day's program.

Electricity Taken To Farms, but It Was Real Selling

One spring day in 1928 a young man started work for the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation convinced that every farmer in the Mid-Hudson valley should have electricity, if he wanted it. He was also ready to convince any farmer who didn't want it that he should have it, too.

Twenty-three years later Murray Wigsten can smile with satisfaction. The job is complete. He and his assistant, Jimmy Hallock, have tramped over the properties of "practically every farm in the Central Hudson franchise area," advising, admonishing and insisting that electricity could lighten the load of the farmer.

It has been a practical job backed by personal experience. Murray, with his son Warren, operates his own dairy farm that boasts a herd of purebred Holstein cattle, including the 1950 national champion. He also has his share of booklearning, taught to him at the Cornell Agricultural college.

"You go back to 1931," says Murray, who likes to chew on a cigar, "about 20 per cent of the farmers in our area had electricity. The others weren't anxious by any means to bring it in."

Murray, short, stocky and with thick gray hair, will tell you some of the farmers were so anxious not to have electricity that they chased him off their property with a shotgun.

"There was one fellow," Murray recalled, "who wanted electricity but advised us to be sure to put the poles on his neighbor's land."

The biggest job, according to the Central Hudson farm representative, was an information one. "The farmers who had it were all for it. Those who didn't weren't. The trick was to get the two together. As soon as they found out what electricity could do they were sold. But you couldn't tell them—you had to prove it to them."

To make possible installation of new power distribution lines all the farmers who lived along the right-of-way had to agree to it. Farmers who carried water for their stock by hand weren't sure they wanted it pumped automatically. Others who milked by hand said automatic milkers would spoil their cows.

"When we were finished," Murray said of a 1934 survey trip, "we chartered the area on a big map. Then we went out to sell every one of them. In 1935 we built more than 350 miles of rural extension lines. Before this I doubt if we had put up over 75 miles a year."

Now that the farmers have electricity the big job is to help them develop new appliances and to overhaul wiring systems that are obsolete or inadequate.

Kaesong Talks . . .

extend substantially north of the present Allied line.

No Rigid Line

"We have made no efforts to draw a rigid line," Ridgway said.

After a demarcation line is agreed upon, he explained, the Reds could "pick any line which would give them as much defensive ability as we have."

He conceded that the UN proposal for establishment of an administrative demarcation line and creation of a buffer zone would result in a Communist withdrawal from their present positions.

United Nations forces also probably would have to pull back slightly, he said.

But, he emphasized, the U. N. will not acept the 38th Parallel as a demarcation line. That is the old political boundry betwen North and South Korea. It is poor terrain, militarily, for defense purposes. Communist drives have overwhelmed Allies along that line on two previous occasions, he pointed out. They were at the start of the war and again last New Year's Eve.

Kingston Man . . .

taking off on a routine check-out flight.

Lost Altitude Suddenly

Dozens of persons in Seattle's south end industrial section saw the doomed plane suddenly lose altitude from 700 feet up and veer off sharply to the right.

With its four engines churning at apparent full power, a wing dipped violently, the B-50 flicked against the side of a brewery, then plowed into the frame and brick Lester Apartments on the hill behind.

"The noise was so loud I thought it was a jet coming," recalled Fred Prout, who was below the residential hill. "Then I saw it, the wings at a 90-degree angle to the ground—straight up and down." In the next instant it struck and burst into flames.

The other two, air force men named previously, were Capt. Charles A. Dews, 30, Austin, Tex., radar observer, and Lt. Lloyd G. Vanderwielen, 33, Seattle, pilot.

Search Is Made

Firemen probed the still-hot debris until midnight, searching for the remains of others who might have been trapped in the inferno touched off by the plane's 3,500 gallons of high test gasoline and 300 gallons of oil. The hunt was to be resumed shortly after daybreak.

Twelve persons in the apartment building were painfully burned or injured in the impact or their escape from the lightning quick spread of the flames.

Three residents were unaccounted for at an early hour today.

Seventy-six year old Peter Nelson, who occupied an upper apartmen, said he ran through a fire-filled hall and heard screams coming from the unit occupied by Al Mason, one of the missing. Mrs. Mason's body was the 11th taken from the wreckage.

Was Nearly Trapped

Nelson said parts of the roof, turned into firebrands, fell on him as he ran. He was nearly trapped as he paused to look for his faithful dog Tippy.

William Cain saved his wife by dropping her through a second-story window and then jumping after her. Mrs. Cain's hair was singed and she suffered multiple bruises. Her husband said "it seemed like an eternity, but I suppose it all happened in a fraction of time."

John Thomas, 24, who said he came to Seattle a year ago with "only a dime in my little, old pockets," was playing with his 8-month-old son, Danny, on the bed of their apartment.

"There was a tremendous crash," he said. "My wife opened the door into the hall and in rushed the flames. She slammed the door shut. I jumped out the window and she tossed the baby to me. Then she jumped out after me."

Helped Others

Though Thomas and his family were hurt in their escape, he rushed back into the building to help others break down locked doors in a hunt for trapped neighbors.

What caused the bomber to crash is not known. Military and civilian investigators were to probe the wreckage today. The parent Boeing Company said the B-50 was one of many modified at the Seattle plant. It took off from adjacent Boeing Field on a flight to check out military equipment recently installed. The company statement gave no indication what type of equipment was being tested.

Only about one-third the 64 persons normally resident in the building were home.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

War production is nothing for investors to get elated about. It is something like an inebriate's jag: it feels good while it lasts; but there is a terrific let-down after it wears off.

$56-billion is the approximate size of the military bill about to be approved by Congress. That is more money than all the corporations and individuals took in during one year of the depression, 1932. Today in the national economic picture, a thousand million dollars doesn't mean much.

The disturbing thing about this high-finance war-production business is that, in paying the bills, recourse to inflation must be restored to. Corporations and individuals are being taxed to death. And in doing this, the seed-corn of our free enterprise system is being destroyed. Taxes become a cost of production and they are passed on to the consumer who must pay higher prices for what he buys.

High taxes do not bring in enough money to pay for everything. So, America must borrow. And billions of dollars of this money eventually come from the banking system (the Federal Reserve Banks) where money is created.

Thus does the giddy economic system continue to function. With inflation seemingly easing most of the financial problems America is faced with, what differences does it apparently make whether Uncle Sam spends 50 or 60 or 70 billions of dollars in a year for war preparation?

The investor with $100 or $1,000 is caught up in the contemporary economic swirl. His dollar, I think, is going to get worse before it gets better. Often he asks himself: "What do my two or five or ten dollars a week savings amount to in this hectic world?"

As I wrote last week, I believe a flight from dollars is in the cards. The economic background of America points to such an event. But even that won't last forever. Our country inherenly possesses the powers to stop inflation. Our tremendous productive capacity will level off prices; and even in Washington, sometime, we shall have fiscal sanity. Our inflation comes from those two sources principally.

Specifically, then, I believe the average investor should prepare for both inflation (in the immediate years ahead) and deflation.

Our military troubles and our domestic economic woes are going to cost us billions upon billions of dollars in 1951 and for years to come. And, as I have said before, an inflationary dollar is going to be employed in paying the huge bills.

Two per cent, 2½ per cent and 3 per cent ten year maturity bonds are poor instruments of finance to buy in the decade ahead with such an international program forced upon America.

Any sound corporation common stock that has paid dividends for 25 years without fail, whose operations are built solidly into the economic fabric of our country, is a good security to buy and to hold. Most such enterprises can adjust their selling prices to their costs and thus retain some integrity in the stockholders' dollar.

And then, looking forward to the years when war conditions are past, the average investors should prepare for deflation.

Maybe in 1961, war production will be a thing of memory. If so, the tremendous productive capacity of America will be turing out goods and services to surfeit our production. Prices will tumble, wages and salaries will fall, taxes will be reduced. Deflation will be here.

And those young people who, in 1951, took out $5,000 and $10,000 life insurance policies at age 30 and paid the premiums with inflationary dollars, will be tickled. And those persons who at 40, 45 and 50 years of age bought, in 1951, endownment policies due in 20, 25 and 30 years will say in 1961 or in 1966 or in 1971: "How smart I was!"

Our present inflation is but a passing event. The end of war conditions and the proper handling of Federal finances will remedy that.

State Police . . .

this would be the first step toward anarchy."

Carton then announced that 500 transit policemen—employed on New York city's subways and elevated trains—have applied for affiliation with the PBA and rejected Quill's offer of membership.

Quill later labeled Carton's convention remark's as "hysterical shouting."

Peter Keresman of Kingston, executive secretary of the state conference, urged a 40-hour week and higher pay. Retirements of police throughout the state have increased 100 per cent in the last year, he said, because of low income and long hours.

"Police labor unions are not the answer to the police problem," he said, "but there surely will be new unions if the public officials don't wake up."

Attempts to win a shorter work week by action of the state Legislature has met with no success in recent years.

Quill said his union will issue its New York City Police Department local charter "on schedule, Aug. 21."

Quill added that he would meet today in Albany with representatives of the state police, but offered no details.

The PBA business sessions begin today at 9 a. m. (E.S.T.) at the Roger Smith Hotel, convention headquarters.

Past Commanders To Hold Meeting

The 40th annual meeting of the Past Commanders Association of Knights Templar of Central New York will be held at the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany avenue, on Saturday, August 18.

About 100 past commanders and their wives are expected to register for the meeting, which is being held this year for the first time in Kingston. Fourteen Commanderies are included in central New York, from Middletown and Newburgh on the south as far north as Lake Champlain and west as far as Utica.

W. Frank Davis of this city is president of the association. Gordon A. Craig is chairman of arrangements.

Ladies attending the meeting will be taken for a sightseeing trip, leaving the Temple at 4 p. m. and returning before 6 o'clock. The business meeting for the election of officers, reception of reports and the transaction of other business will be held at 4 p. m. Dinner will be served at 6 p. m.

The new grand commander, Right Eminent Harry J. Cook, will be present with other distinguished guests. Present council officers of each commandery also are invited to attend.

Plan Is Worked Out

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—State and local officials are working out a plan to pool equipment and manpower in the event of a forest-fire emergency in the Adirondacks, where thousands of trees were felled by a near-hurricane last November. Conservation Commission Perry B. Duryea announced yesterday that the master plan was almost completed. He said final details would be worked out at conferences in Saranac Lake, Old Forge, Indian Lake, Lowville, Cranberry Lake and the Lake George area.

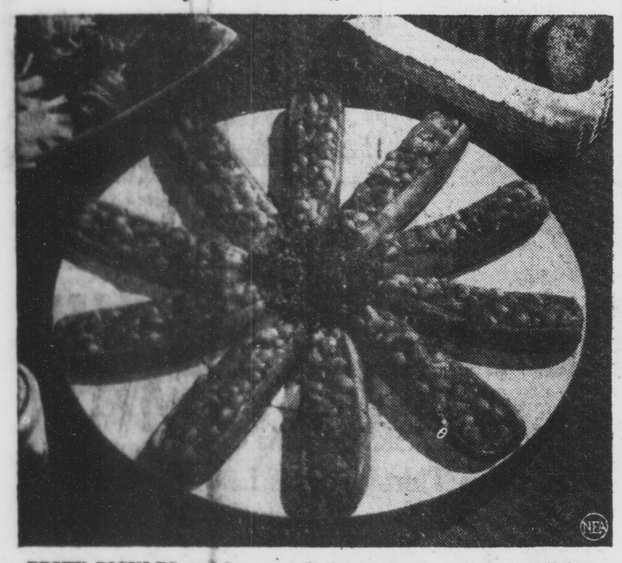
Try Pickle-Stuffed Franks



ZESTY PICKLES and beans stuffed into franks makes a delicious and economical dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Pickles add zip to inexpensive foods, taking the monotony out of budget meals.

Bean-pickle Stuffed Frankfurters
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One 1-pound can pork and baked beans, ¼ cup sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon chili sauce, 10 frankfurters.

In a mixing bowl, mash the beans slightly; mix in relish and chili sauce. With a sharp knife, split frankfurters lengthwise without cutting all the way through. Fill with bean-pickle stuffing. Place in a baking pan and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

If desired, wrap each stuffed frankfurter with a strip of bacon before it goes in the oven and increase the baking time to 30 minutes instead of 20 minutes.

Here's a zesty variation on the old beet theme.

Orange Pickled Beets
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ cup pickle liquid, 1 1-pound jar or can sliced beets, ¼ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup thinly sliced sweet gherkins, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon salt, freshly ground pepper.

Mix cornstarch and pickle liquid to a smooth paste in a 1-quart saucepan. Drain liquid from beets; measure 2/3 cup beet liquid; add to cornstarch mixture, stirring to blend. Cook over medium heat 5 minutes, or until mixture thickens. Next add brown sugar, sweet gherkins, orange rind, butter or margarine, salt, pepper and drained beets. Heat thoroughly and serve.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Chilled sauerkraut juice, bacon and scrambled eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Cream of tomato soup, grilled crumpled bacon and peanut butter sandwiches, fresh fruit, tea, milk.

DINNER: Bean-pickle stuffed frankfurters, crisp pickles, radish fans, celery curls, brown bread, butter or fortified margarine, chocolate ice cream sundae, coffee, milk.

Twenty-three years later Murray Wigsten can smile with satisfaction. The job is complete. He and his assistant, Jimmy Hallock, have tramped over the properties of "practically every farm in the Central Hudson franchise area," advising, admonishing and insisting that electricity could lighten the load of the farmer.

It has been a practical job backed by personal experience. Murray, with his son Warren, operates his own dairy farm that boasts a herd of purebred Holstein cattle, including the 1950 national champion. He also has his share of booklearning, taught to him at the Cornell Agricultural college.

"You go back to 1931," says Murray, who likes to chew on a cigar, "about 20 per cent of the farmers in our area had electricity. The others weren't anxious by any means to bring it in."

Murray, short, stocky and with thick gray hair, will tell you some of the farmers were so anxious not to have electricity that they chased him off their property with a shotgun.

"There was one fellow," Murray recalled, "who wanted electricity but advised us to be sure to put the poles on his neighbor's land."

The biggest job, according to the Central Hudson farm representative, was an information one. "The farmers who had it were all for it. Those who didn't weren't. The trick was to get the two together. As soon as they found out what electricity could do they were sold. But you couldn't tell them—you had to prove it to them."

To make possible installation of new power distribution lines all the farmers who lived along the right-of-way had to agree to it. Farmers who carried water for their stock by hand weren't sure they wanted it pumped automatically. Others who milked by hand said automatic milkers would spoil their cows.

"When we were finished," Murray said of a 1934 survey trip, "we chartered the area on a big map. Then we went out to sell every one of them. In 1935 we built more than 350 miles of rural extension lines. Before this I doubt if we had put up over 75 miles a year."

Now that the farmers have electricity the big job is to help them develop new appliances and to overhaul wiring systems that are obsolete or inadequate.

No Rigid Line

"We have made no efforts to draw a rigid line," Ridgway said.

After a demarcation line is agreed upon, he explained, the Reds could "pick any line which would give them as much defensive ability as we have."

He conceded that the UN proposal for establishment of an administrative demarcation line and creation of a buffer zone would result in a Communist withdrawal from their present positions.

United Nations forces also probably would have to pull back slightly, he said.

But, he emphasized, the U. N. will not acept the 38th Parallel as a demarcation line. That is the old political boundry betwen North and South Korea. It is poor terrain, militarily, for defense purposes. Communist drives have overwhelmed Allies along that line on two previous occasions, he pointed out. They were at the start of the war and again last New Year's Eve.

Kingston Man . . .

Lost Altitude Suddenly

Dozens of persons in Seattle's south end industrial section saw the doomed plane suddenly lose altitude from 700 feet up and veer off sharply to the right.

With its four engines churning at apparent full power, a wing dipped violently, the B-50 flicked against the side of a brewery, then plowed into the frame and brick Lester Apartments on the hill behind.

"The noise was so loud I thought it was a jet coming," recalled Fred Prout, who was below the residential hill. "Then I saw it, the wings at a 90-degree angle to the ground—straight up and down." In the next instant it struck and burst into flames.

The other two, air force men named previously, were Capt. Charles A. Dews, 30, Austin, Tex., radar observer, and Lt. Lloyd G. Vanderwielen, 33, Seattle, pilot.

Search Is Made

Firemen probed the still-hot debris until midnight, searching for the remains of others who might have been trapped in the inferno touched off by the plane's 3,500 gallons of high test gasoline and 300 gallons of oil. The hunt was to be resumed shortly after daybreak.

Twelve persons in the apartment building were painfully burned or injured in the impact or their escape from the lightning quick spread of the flames.

Three residents were unaccounted for at an early hour today.

Seventy-six year old Peter Nelson, who occupied an upper apartmen, said he ran through a fire-filled hall and heard screams coming from the unit occupied by Al Mason, one of the missing. Mrs. Mason's body was the 11th taken from the wreckage.

Was Nearly Trapped

Nelson said parts of the roof, turned into firebrands, fell on him as he ran. He was nearly trapped as he paused to look for his faithful dog Tippy.

William Cain saved his wife by dropping her through a second-story window and then jumping after her. Mrs. Cain's hair was singed and she suffered multiple bruises. Her husband said "it seemed like an eternity, but I suppose it all happened in a fraction of time."

John Thomas, 24, who said he came to Seattle a year ago with "only a dime in my little, old pockets," was playing with his 8-month-old son, Danny, on the bed of their apartment.

"There was a tremendous crash," he said. "My wife opened the door into the hall and in rushed the flames. She slammed the door shut. I jumped out the window and she tossed the baby to me. Then she jumped out after me."

Helped Others

Though Thomas and his family were hurt in their escape, he rushed back into the building to help others break down locked doors in a hunt for trapped neighbors.

What caused the bomber to crash is not known. Military and civilian investigators were to probe the wreckage today. The parent Boeing Company said the B-50 was one of many modified at the Seattle plant. It took off from adjacent Boeing Field on a flight to check out military equipment recently installed. The company statement gave no indication what type of equipment was being tested.

Only about one-third the 64 persons normally resident in the building were home.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

War production is nothing for investors to get elated about. It is somethting like an inebriate's jag: it feels good while it lasts; but there is a terrific let-down after it wears off.

$56-billion is the approximate size of the military bill about to be approved by Congress. That is more money than all the corporations and individuals took in during one year of the depression, 1932. Today in the national economic picture, a thousand million dollars doesn't mean much.

The disturbing thing about this high-finance war-production business is that, in paying the bills, recourse to inflation must be restored to. Corporations and individuals are being taxed to death. And in doing this, the seed-corn of our free enterprise system is being destroyed. Taxes become a cost of production and they are passed on to the consumer who must pay higher prices for what he buys.

High taxes do not bring in enough money to pay for everything. So, America must borrow. And billions of dollars of this money eventually come from the banking system (the Federal Reserve Banks) where money is created.

Thus does the giddy economic system continue to function. With inflation seemingly easing most of the financial problems America is faced with, what differences does it apparently make whether Uncle Sam spends 50 or 60 or 70 billions of dollars in a year for war preparation?

The investor with $100 or $1,000 is caught up in the contemporary economic swirl. His dollar, I think, is going to get worse before it gets better. Often he asks himself: "What do my two or five or ten dollars a week savings amount to in this hectic world?"

As I wrote last week, I believe a flight from dollars is in the cards. The economic background of America points to such an event. But even that won't last forever. Our country inherenly possesses the powers to stop inflation. Our tremendous productive capacity will level off prices; and even in Washington, sometime, we shall have fiscal sanity. Our inflation comes from those two sources principally.

Specifically, then, I believe the average investor should prepare for both inflation (in the immediate years ahead) and deflation.

Our military troubles and our domestic economic woes are going to cost us billions upon billions of dollars in 1951 and for years to come. And, as I have said before, an inflationary dollar is going to be employed in paying the huge bills.

Two per cent, 2½ per cent and 3 per cent ten year maturity bonds are poor instruments of finance to buy in the decade ahead with such an international program forced upon America.

Any sound corporation common stock that has paid dividends for 25 years without fail, whose operations are built solidly into the economic fabric of our country, is a good security to buy and to hold. Most such enterprises can adjust their selling prices to their costs and thus retain some integrity in the stockholders' dollar.

And then, looking forward to the years when war conditions are past, the average investors should prepare for deflation.

Maybe in 1961, war production will be a thing of memory. If so, the tremendous productive capacity of America will be turing out goods and services to surfeit our production. Prices will tumble, wages and salaries will fall, taxes will be reduced. Deflation will be here.

And those young people who, in 1951, took out $5,000 and $10,000 life insurance policies at age 30 and paid the premiums with inflationary dollars, will be tickled. And those persons who at 40, 45 and 50 years of age bought, in 1951, endownment policies due in 20, 25 and 30 years will say in 1961 or in 1966 or in 1971: "How smart I was!"

Our present inflation is but a passing event. The end of war conditions and the proper handling of Federal finances will remedy that.

State Police . . .

this would be the first step toward anarchy."

Carton then announced that 500 transit policemen—employed on New York city's subways and elevated trains—have applied for affiliation with the PBA and rejected Quill's offer of membership.

Quill later labeled Carton's convention remark's as "hysterical shouting."

Peter Keresman of Kingston, executive secretary of the state conference, urged a 40-hour week and higher pay. Retirements of police throughout the state have increased 100 per cent in the last year, he said, because of low income and long hours.

"Police labor unions are not the answer to the police problem," he said, "but there surely will be new unions if the public officials don't wake up."

Attempts to win a shorter work week by action of the state Legislature has met with no success in recent years.

Quill said his union will issue its New York City Police Department local charter "on schedule, Aug. 21."

Quill added that he would meet today in Albany with representatives of the state police, but offered no details.

The PBA business sessions begin today at 9 a. m. (E.S.T.) at the Roger Smith Hotel, convention headquarters.

Past Commanders To Hold Meeting

The 40th annual meeting of the Past Commanders Association of Knights Templar of Central New York will be held at the Masonic Temple, 31 Albany avenue, on Saturday, August 18.

About 100 past commanders and their wives are expected to register for the meeting, which is being held this year for the first time in Kingston. Fourteen Commanderies are included in central New York, from Middletown and Newburgh on the south as far north as Lake Champlain and west as far as Utica.

W. Frank Davis of this city is president of the association. Gordon A. Craig is chairman of arrangements.

Ladies attending the meeting will be taken for a sightseeing trip, leaving the Temple at 4 p. m. and returning before 6 o'clock. The business meeting for the election of officers, reception of reports and the transaction of other business will be held at 4 p. m. Dinner will be served at 6 p. m.

The new grand commander, Right Eminent Harry J. Cook, will be present with other distinguished guests. Present council officers of each commandery also are invited to attend.

Plan Is Worked Out

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—State and local officials are working out a plan to pool equipment and manpower in the event of a forest-fire emergency in the Adirondacks, where thousands of trees were felled by a near-hurricane last November. Conservation Commission Perry B. Duryea announced yesterday that the master plan was almost completed. He said final details would be worked out at conferences in Saranac Lake, Old Forge, Indian Lake, Lowville, Cranberry Lake and the Lake George area.

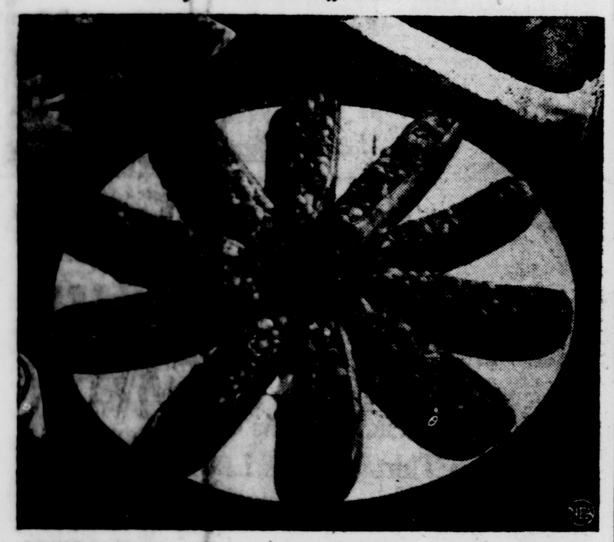
Try Pickle-Stuffed Franks



ZESTY PICKLES and beans stuffed into franks makes a delicious and economical dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Pickles add zip to inexpensive foods, taking the monotony out of budget meals.

Bean-pickle Stuffed Frankfurters
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One 1-pound can pork and baked beans, ¼ cup sweet pickle relish, 1 tablespoon chili sauce, 10 frankfurters.

In a mixing bowl, mash the beans slightly; mix in relish and chili sauce. With a sharp knife, split frankfurters lengthwise without cutting all the way through. Fill with bean-pickle stuffing. Place in a baking pan and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

If desired, wrap each stuffed frankfurter with a strip of bacon before it goes in the oven and increase the baking time to 30 minutes instead of 20 minutes.

Here's a zesty variation on the old beet theme.

Orange Pickled Beets
(Makes 4-6 servings)

One tablespoon cornstarch, ¼ cup pickle liquid, 1 1-pound jar or can sliced beets, ¼ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup thinly sliced sweet gherkins, ½ teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ teaspoon salt, freshly ground pepper.

Mix cornstarch and pickle liquid to a smooth paste in a 1-quart saucepan. Drain liquid from beets; measure 2/3 cup beet liquid; add to cornstarch mixture, stirring to blend. Cook over medium heat 5 minutes, or until mixture thickens. Next add brown sugar, sweet gherkins, orange rind, butter or margarine, salt, pepper and drained beets. Heat thoroughly and serve.

Amsterdam Wins Series Opener, 5-3; Doubleheader Slated Tonight

Three Unearned Tallies and Marshall's Slick Relief Hurling Wins for Ruggers

It's a moot question if Uncle Sam needed Nick Marino more than the Colonials last night.

But Uncle Sam had him and the Colonials didn't and thereby hangs a tale of the Amsterdam Rugmakers' 5 to 3 victory over the Colonials in the opening game of a three-game series.

A twilight-night doubleheader is scheduled tonight, with the first game at 6:30 p. m.

While Marino was drilling with a Naval reserve unit somewhere in Poughkeepsie, a situation developed in the second inning that might easily have been solved by the agile, sure-fingered shortstop.

Three Unearned Tallies

Amsterdam was ahead 1-0, with runners on second and third when Bill Lege slapped one of Charlie Borden's pitches to shortstop. It appeared to be a routine play for the third out. Instead, the ball was bobbled momentarily by Sam Piacentino, Marino's fill-in for the night, then thrown wildly to first. Two runs scored to make it 3-0 on the play. Another followed on Dave Krings' single to right and the Rugmakers had moved ahead 3-0.

Piacentino was at shortstop because he was the best qualified player the Colonials had in the absence of Marino. Big Sam gave it a good try, as he always does, but couldn't quite make it on the big play of the inning.

These three unearned runs conspired to defeat Charlie Borden, who was slick in every other frame, although it required a superb relief stint by southpaw Dick Marshall to nail down the win for Frank Novosel's Yankee farmhands.

Marshall relieved starter Jerry Buchanan with three Kingston runs across, one out and the tying run on base in the bottom of the seventh.

He collaborated on a dazzling play with first baseman John Paul Jones to erase Gene Zubrinski by an eyelash at first base for the second out, walked Sam Piacentino after a 3-2 count and got Dennis Healey on a pop to first base, while Manager John Sosh languished on second.

Colonials Rally

Buchanan, a fast-balling young right hander who has a temperament to match his explosive fast ball, wiggled out of several tight spots but held a 4-0 bulge when the Colonials came to bat in the seventh. He had escaped a run in the fourth when Gene Zubrinski was thrown out at the plate on Bill O'Brien's sharp single to left. Zubrinski neglected to slide on the play, a mental lapse that Manager Sosh must have commented on in a subsequent conversation with the first sacker.

With one out in the seventh, the Colonials lowered the boom on Buchanan. Borden waited out a walk, Scott Tortoriello sliced a single to left and Johnny DiFresco tripled off the centerfield fence for two. Manager Sosh hit the first pitch for a screaming double to left center scoring DiFresco for 4-3 and that was all for Buchanan. Enter Marshall and that was all for the Colonials for the rest of the night.

The Rugmakers promptly picked up an insurance marker in the eighth on Frank Wehner's triple to deep center and John Miastkowski's double to left. Borden quickly regained command and retired the next three batters without further damage.

Johnny DiFresco was the batting star for the Colonials with a triple and two singles, while Scotty Tortoriello and Bill O'Brien each maced a pair of hits. Miastkowski rapped two singles for the visitors.

P.S.—Nick Marino will be at shortstop tonight.

Pro Wrestling Card Here Friday Will Feature Sensational Gorky

THANK YOU, FOR 1000 TICKETS

Ben N. Ashton, left, president of Electrol Inc., hands check in payment for 1,000 tickets to Addison Jones, general manager of the Kingston Colonials. The tickets were purchased for company employes by the Electrol management in conjunction with Electrol Night on Sunday, Aug. 19, at municipal stadium. The Gloversville Glovers will be the attraction. That Mr. Jones said to Mr. Ashton: "Thank you kindly, sir," goes without saying. (Freeman Photo).

156th FA Joint Sponsor With Bill Johnston

Professional wrestling returns to Kingston on Friday, Aug. 17, with four all-star bouts scheduled at the municipal auditorium.

The wrestling exhibitions will be sponsored by Promoter Bill Johnston's new syndicate of New York city and the 156th Field Artillery Battalion.

The 156th group will have a large supply of tickets for the show.

The card marks the return to Kingston of one of the most popular performers of last season —Ivan Gorky—Russia's one-man riot squad.

Gorky, who thrilled local spectators with three devastating performances in the past, has been paired against Bob Riker, of Norfolk, Va.

Gorky's last appearance in Kingston almost created a riot at the municipal auditorium and the police had to be called in to restore order.

Mr. Americus Set

One of Johnston's prize products—Mr. Americus—is scheduled in a 30-minute bout against the young Italian sensation, Nick Lucenti, former Fordham football star.

A blond Adonis, Mr. Americus is a darling of the TV set and rivals Gene Stanlee in crowd appeal.

A 30-minute bout features Lord Spears of Liverpool, England, against Mike Kilonis, the Greek playboy.

Two-ton Tony Milano of the 275-pound Italian giant goes against rugged Abe Coleman, the "Human Fire Plug" in the 30-minute opener. Coleman, well known and popular in Kingston, is a former world champion. In Milano he meets one of the new dreadnaught sensations of the mat game.

Tickets are now on sale at Tommy Maines' Sport Shop and the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

Would Bar Pools In Borscht Belt

Monticello, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Resort hotels in the Catskills will eliminate betting pools on baseball and basketball games in an effort to gain approval of college officials.

After the basketball fixing scandal broke this spring, the Eastern College Athletic Conference barred players from competing on teams at the summer resorts.

Some officials said players had been contacted by bribers at the hotels, a statement denied by the hotelmen. In recent years basketball players worked at the hotels, and played inter-hotel games at night.

All hotels in the area have agreed to eliminate pools on baseball and basketball games, said Morris Abraham, executive secretary of the Mountain Hotelmen's Federation. Guests put up 50 cents or $1 to guess scores of games.

The E.C.A.C. had barred baseball players from the resorts several years ago.

Philadelphia — Joe Giardello, 154½, Philadelphia, outpointed Otis Graham, 160, Philadelphia (8).

Musial, Minoso Batting Leaders

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Unless Stan Musial falls into a horrible slump, the St. Louis Cardinal slugger seems headed for his fifth National League batting title.

With seven weeks to play, Musial held a 19-point lead on runnerup Richie Ashburn of the Phils according to averages including Sunday's games. Musial was hitting .368, Ashburn .349. A week ago Ashburn was only 13 points back. Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn, another contender, was third at .344, 24 points behind "the man."

Roy Campanella of Brooklyn edged up on the leaders with a sensational performance. Four of his nine hits for the week were home runs. Campanella's average soared to .334 and fourth place.

Minoso AL Leader

Orestes Minoso of the Chicago White Sox is still the hitter to beat in the American League batting race.

Although the fleet Cuban Negro slumped two points last week to .342 with nine hits in 29 trips, he remained eight points ahead of injured Ferris Fain of Philadelphia, who had an unchanged .334.

Among Minoso's active pursuers, closest through Sunday's play was Detroit's George Kell with .331.

Bobby Avila of Cleveland moved into fourth spot with .327, one point ahead of Boston's Ted Williams. Gil Coan of Washington, fourth last week, continued his slump—dropping nine points to a sixth-spot .322.

Other leaders were Gil McDougald of New York, .310; Nellie Fox, Chicago, .309; Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .304; and Johnny Pesky, Boston, .302.

IBC Under Fire In Congress

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Harry (Kid) Matthews and not "Irish" Bob Murphy ought to be fighting Joey Maxim for the light-heavyweight championship Aug. 22, two senators said yesterday.

They made the statement as they offered a resolution calling for a Congressional probe of the professional boxing game, and particularly of the International Boxing Club.

Matthews, an Idaho boy now fighting out of Seattle, decisioned Murphy in a New York fight last March 2. Both Senators Welker (R.-Ida.) and Cain (R.-Wash.) said the victory was decisive, and that the winner had been promised a crack at Maxim for the world's title.

Instead, they said, Matthews was returned to the small-time and Murphy was given a go against Jake LaMotta as a preliminary to the Maxim fight.

That, said Welker, was a move of the International Boxing Club.

"It goes without saying," he added, "and I think it is common knowledge, that the International Boxing Club is a closed corporation which governs and controls the professional boxing business in most every major city in the United States."

Rienzo's Steal Of Home Upsets Chezzies, 3-2

Need Win Wednesday To Stay in Playoffs

A team that couldn't field nine men a week ago stands a good chance of crashing fourth place in the City League Shaughnessy playoffs. All because of a daring steal of home by Mike Rienzo.

This odd circumstance is the result of the Gulfmen's 3 to 2 upset of the championship Chez Emile team in yesterday's abbreviated City League contest at the Athletic Field.

Should Morgans accomplish the miracle, Boulevard and Old Caps would play off for fourth place.

Tierney Effective

Tierney regained his early season effectiveness as he stopped the champions with four hits in rugged duel with Bud Swarthout. The veteran southpaw did not yield the winning tally until the bottom of the fifth.

The clubs were deadlocked at 2-2 and the darkness was coming on fast when Mike Rienzo led off with a walk for the Gulfmen. Bob Lyons looped a Texas Leaguer to center. Don Lyons bunted Mike to third as the Gulfmen played it close to the vest. Then came the play of the game. Rienzo took advantage of Swarthout's long windup and set sail for the plate. Ball and runner seemed to arrive at the same time but Rienzo had a split second advantage and slid under Joe Benjamin's tag for the winning run.

Umpire Bill Schwab called the game at this point on account of darkness.

Boulevards' first two runs were the result of circuit clouts, Gus Koch slammed one over the left field barrier in the first and Joe Shattan belted one over the same sector in the third.

Koch and Bob Lyons got two hits each for the winners, while Bob Slover accounted for half of the Chez Emile production off Tierney with a pair of singles.

5073 See Can-Am Game in Pittsfield

(By The Associated Press)

When you throw a party, you show off your best silver.

That's what the Pittsfield Electrics did last night when the largest crowd in the city's baseball history—5,037 paid—jammed the park for community booster night.

The Electrics displayed the Canadian-American League's winningest pitcher, righthander George McPhail, and McPhail spun a three-hit, 2-0 win over the pace-setting Oneonta Red Sox.

The 25-year-old Maryland product faced only 29 batsmen in posting his 22nd victory. He has lost six.

The attendance broke a 32-year-old record. On the last day of the 1919 season—when Pittsfield was in the Eastern League—4,990 saw their favorites beat Worcester for the pennant.

In other games, the Amsterdam Ruggers sent the Kingston Colonials back into the loop's dungeon with a 5-3 win at Kingston, while the Rome Colonels pounded out an 11-4 victory at Gloversville. The Colonials and Colonels had been tied for fifth place in the six-team circuit.

The Ruggers built up a 4-0 lead in the second inning, then survived a three-run Kingston bid in the seventh.

At Gloversville, the Colonels wrecked a 4-4 ball game with five in the eighth.

Qualify for Finals Starting on Monday

Beichert's Studebakers eliminated the American Legion from the City League Shaughnessy playoffs, 8 to 4, behind the effective hurling of Don Weeks and Joe Enright.

Although the Legion outhit the Studies, 10 to 8, they were unable to solve Weeks and Enright in the clutch. The Studies won the series in two straight.

Joe Woods homered with one aboard in the fifth and Bob Graves followed with a long triple to sew up the game for the Studebakers.

Basch, J. Woods and Graves pounded two hits each for the winners. Cliff Davis had a perfect day for the Legion with a double and two singles in three trips. Ferguson rapped two singles.

Sicklers Even

Sickler's Delivery squared its series with Subway Grill, 6 to 5, and the teams will play the deciding game on Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at Hasbrouck Park.

The winner of the Wednesday contest faces Beichert's in the opening of the five-game finals on Monday.

The Studies have already retired the Mayor's Trophy by winning the regular season.

Amsterdam Wins Series Opener, 5-3; Doubleheader Slated Tonight

Three Unearned Tallies and Marshall's Slick Relief Hurling Wins for Ruggers

It's a moot question if Uncle Sam needed Nick Marino more than the Colonials last night.

But Uncle Sam had him and the Colonials didn't and thereby hangs a tale of the Amsterdam Rugmakers' 5 to 3 victory over the Colonials in the openipg game of a three-game series.

A twilight-night doubleheader is scheduled tonight, with the first game at 6:30 p. m.

While Marino was drilling with a Naval reserve unit somewhere in Poughkeepsie, a situation developed in the second inning that might easily have been solved by the agile, sure-fingered shortstop.

Three Unearned Tallies

Amsterdam was ahead 1-0, with runners on second and third when Bill Lege slapped one of Charlie Borden's pitches to shortstop. It appeared to be a routine play for the third out. Instead, the ball was bobbled momentarily by Sam Piacentino, Marino's fill-in for the night, then thrown wildly to first. Two runs scored to make it 3-0 on the play. Another followed on Dave Krings' single to right and the Rugmakers had moved ahead 3-0.

Piacentino was at shortstop because he was the best qualified player the Colonials had in the absence of Marino. Big Sam gave it a good try, as he always does, but couldn't quite make it on the big play of the inning.

These three unearned runs conspired to defeat Charlie Borden, who was slick in every other frame, although it required a superb relief stint by southpaw Dick Marshall to nail down the win for Frank Novosel's Yankee farmhands.

Marshall relieved starter Jerry Buchanan with three Kingston runs across, one out and the tying run on base in the bottom of the seventh.

He collaborated on a dazzling play with first baseman John Paul Jones to erase Gene Zubrinski by an eyelash at first base for the second out, walked Sam Piacentino after a 3-2 count and got Dennis Healey on a pop to first base, while Manager John Sosh languished on second.

Colonials Rally

Buchanan, a fast-balling young right hander who has a temperament to match his explosive fast ball, wiggled out of several tight spots but held a 4-0 bulge when the Colonials came to bat in the seventh. He had escaped a run in the fourth when Gene Zubrinski was thrown out at the plate on Bill O'Brien's sharp single to left. Zubrinski neglected to slide on the play, a mental lapse that Manager Sosh must have commented on in a subsequent conversation with the first sacker.

With one out in the seventh, the Colonials lowered the boom on Buchanan. Borden waited out a walk, Scott Tortoriello sliced a single to left and Johnny DiFresco tripled off the centerfield fence for two. Manager Sosh hit the first pitch for a screaming double to left center scoring DiFresco for 4-3 and that was all for Buchanan. Enter Marshall and that was all for the Colonials for the rest of the night.

The Rugmakers promptly picked up an insurance marker in the eighth on Frank Wehner's triple to deep center and John Miastkowski's double to left. Borden quickly regained command and retired the next three batters without further damage.

Johnny DiFresco was the batting star for the Colonials with a triple and two singles, while Scotty Tortoriello and Bill O'Brien each maced a pair of hits. Miastkowski rapped two singles for the visitors.

P.S.—Nick Marino will be at shortstop tonight.

THANK YOU, FOR 1000 TICKETS

Ben N. Ashton, left, president of Electrol Inc., hands check in payment for 1,000 tickets to Addison Jones, general manager of the Kingston Colonials. The tickets were purchased for company employes by the Electrol management in conjunction with Electrol Night on Sunday, Aug. 19, at municipal stadium. The Gloversville Glovers will be the attraction. That Mr. Jones said to Mr. Ashton: "Thank you kindly, sir," goes without saying. (Freeman Photo).

156th FA Joint Sponsor With Bill Johnston

Professional wrestling returns to Kingston on Friday, Aug. 17, with four all-star bouts scheduled at the municipal auditorium.

The wrestling exhibitions will be sponsored by Promoter Bill Johnston's new syndicate of New York city and the 156th Field Artillery Battalion.

The 156th group will have a large supply of tickets for the show.

The card marks the return to Kingston of one of the most popular performers of last season —Ivan Gorky—Russia's one-man riot squad.

Gorky, who thrilled local spectators with three devastating performances in the past, has been paired against Bob Riker, of Norfolk, Va.

Gorky's last appearance in Kingston almost created a riot at the municipal auditorium and the police had to be called in to restore order.

Mr. Americus Set

One of Johnston's prize products—Mr. Americus—is scheduled in a 30-minute bout against the young Italian sensation, Nick Lucenti, former Fordham football star.

A blond Adonis, Mr. Americus is a darling of the TV set and rivals Gene Stanlee in crowd appeal.

A 30-minute bout features Lord Spears of Liverpool, England, against Mike Kilonis, the Greek playboy.

Two-ton Tony Milano of the 275-pound Italian giant goes against rugged Abe Coleman, the "Human Fire Plug" in the 30-minute opener. Coleman, well known and popular in Kingston, is a former world champion. In Milano he meets one of the new dreadnaught sensations of the mat game.

Tickets are now on sale at Tommy Maines' Sport Shop and the municipal auditorium in Kingston.

Musial, Minoso Batting Leaders

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—Unless Stan Musial falls into a horrible slump, the St. Louis Cardinal slugger seems headed for his fifth National League batting title.

With seven weeks to play, Musial held a 19-point lead on runnerup Richie Ashburn of the Phils according to averages including Sunday's games. Musial was hitting .368, Ashburn .349. A week ago Ashburn was only 13 points back. Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn, another contender, was third at .344, 24 points behind "the man."

Roy Campanella of Brooklyn edged up on the leaders with a sensational performance. Four of his nine hits for the week were home runs. Campanella's average soared to .334 and fourth place.

Minoso AL Leader

Orestes Minoso of the Chicago White Sox is still the hitter to beat in the American League batting race.

Although the fleet Cuban Negro slumped two points last week to .342 with nine hits in 29 trips, he remained eight points ahead of injured Ferris Fain of Philadelphia, who had an unchanged .334.

Among Minoso's active pursuers, closest through Sunday's play was Detroit's George Kell with .331.

Bobby Avila of Cleveland moved into fourth spot with .327, one point ahead of Boston's Ted Williams. Gil Coan of Washington, fourth last week, continued his slump—dropping nine points to a sixth-spot .322.

Other leaders were Gil McDougald of New York, .310; Nellie Fox, Chicago, .309; Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .304; and Johnny Pesky, Boston, .302.

IBC Under Fire In Congress

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Harry (Kid) Matthews and not "Irish" Bob Murphy ought to be fighting Joey Maxim for the light-heavyweight championship Aug. 22, two senators said yesterday.

They made the statement as they offered a resolution calling for a Congressional probe of the professional boxing game, and particularly of the International Boxing Club.

Matthews, an Idaho boy now fighting out of Seattle, decisioned Murphy in a New York fight last March 2. Both Senators Welker (R.-Ida.) and Cain (R.-Wash.) said the victory was decisive, and that the winner had been promised a crack at Maxim for the world's title.

Instead, they said, Matthews was returned to the small-time and Murphy was given a go against Jake LaMotta as a preliminary to the Maxim fight.

That, said Welker, was a move of the International Boxing Club.

"It goes without saying," he added, "and I think it is common knowledge, that the International Boxing Club is a closed corporation which governs and controls the professional boxing business in most every major city in the United States."

Rienzo's Steal Of Home Upsets Chezzies, 3-2

Need Win Wednesday To Stay in Playoffs

A team that couldn't field nine men a week ago stands a good chance of crashing fourth place in the City League Shaughnessy playoffs. All because of a daring steal of home by Mike Rienzo.

This odd circumstance is the result of the Gulfmen's 3 to 2 upset of the championship Chez Emile team in yesterday's abbreviated City League contest at the Athletic Field.

The Boulevard triumph left them a half game ahead of Old Capital Motors in the battle for fourth slot and they can claim it outright with a victory that seems inevitable against Morgan's Merchants on Wednesday.

Should Morgans accomplish the miracle, Boulevard and Old Caps would play off for fourth place.

Tierney Effective

Tierney regained his early season effectiveness as he stopped the champions with four hits in rugged duel with Bud Swarthout. The veteran southpaw did not yield the winning tally until the bottom of the fifth.

The clubs were deadlocked at 2-2 and the darkness was coming on fast when Mike Rienzo led off with a walk for the Gulfmen. Bob Lyons looped a Texas Leaguer to center. Don Lyons bunted Mike to third as the Gulfmen played it close to the vest. Then came the play of the game. Rienzo took advantage of Swarthout's long wind-up and set sail for the plate. Ball and runner seemed to arrive at the same time but Rienzo had a split second advantage and slid under Joe Benjamin's tag for the winning run.

Umpire Bill Schwab called the game at this point on account of darkness.

Boulevards' first two runs were the result of circuit clouts. Gus Koch slammed one over the left field barrier in the first and Joe Shattan belted one over the same sector in the third.

Koch and Bob Lyons got two hits each for the winners, while Bob Slover accounted for half of the Chez Emile production off Tierney with a pair of singles.

Would Bar Pools In Borscht Belt

Monticello, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Resort hotels in the Catskills will eliminate betting pools on baseball and basketball games in an effort to gain approval of college officials.

After the basketball fixing scandal broke this spring, the Eastern College Athletic Conference barred players from competing on teams at the summer resorts.

Some officials said players had been contacted by bribers at the hotels, a statement denied by the hotelmen. In recent years basketball players worked at the hotels, and played inter-hotel games at night.

All hotels in the area have agreed to eliminate pools on baseball and basketball games, said Morris Abraham, executive secretary of the Mountain Hotelmen's Federation. Guests put up 50 cents or $1 to guess scores of games.

The E.C.A.C. had barred baseball players from the resorts several years ago.

Philadelphia — Joe Giardello, 154½, Philadelphia, outpointed Otis Graham, 160, Philadelphia (8).

Stop Giants, 7-0; Ronnie Takes Lead

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cleveland's onrushing Indians continue to whiz by all opposition as the "Lopez Limited" speeds steadily toward its destination—Pennantville.

No wonder the Indians, led by Manager Al Lopez, are talking pennant today. They never were so well off.

The Tribe won again last night, defeating Detroit, 2-1. Here is what the victory meant to the Indians.

It increased their first place margin over the runnerup New York Yankees in the American League to two and a half games as Philadelphia shellacked the Bronxites for the third straight time, 16-8.

It stretched the Tribe's winning streak to 11 straight, only two short of the club's all-time record of 13 accomplished in 1942.

It marked the 19th triumph for Bob Feller, who celebrated a "night" in his honor by limiting the Tigers to seven hits.

It was the eighth consecutive complete job by a Cleveland hurler and it was the 12th straight game the Indians held their opposition to four or less runs. It also was Cleveland's 14th win in 15 meetings with Detroit.

Want 5-Game Lead

"We're on our way," said Lopez. "I don't see how anyone can stop us now.

"If we can build up a lead of five games during our coming home stay against the east, we're in. We're getting great pitching and timely hitting. Ray Boone and Bobby Avila have been splendid at short and third and Al Rosen has been helping us with those home runs."

It was a homer by Rosen—his 20th—that proved the difference last night. It came in the fourth inning and snapped a scoreless duel between Feller and Marlin Stuart. A Detroit error, Feller's bloop single, a sacrifice and Avila's fly gave Cleveland an unearned run in the fifth. Singles by Jerry Priddy and Dick Kryhoski and George Kell's forceout produced the Tiger run in the eighth.

"We're in the best shape of the season," said Lopez. "This is a bounce-back ball club. We proved it when after dropping those first two in New York, we came back to win the next one and followed with two out of three victories in Boston.

"That was the turning point for us."

Hodges Homers

A three-run homer by Gil Hodges in the eighth inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 7-6 victory over Boston's Braves and left their 12½ first place margin intact. The runner-up New York Giants won their third straight from Philadelphia's Phils, 5-2.

Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 2-0 and 7-1 while Chicago's Cubs upset the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-3.

Hodges' homer was his 33rd of the season and the 100th of his big league career. Carl Erskine was credited with his 13th victory but needed relief from Clyde King in the ninth.

Whitey Lockman cracked a three-run homer in the first inning off Bubba Church and that was all Larry Jansen needed to record his 15th triumph for the Giants.

Howie Fox blanked the Bucs on five hits in the opener and helped his cause with a homer. Ewell Blackwell had a one-hitter until the ninth of the nightcap. It was Blackie's 12th win.

Boston, Washington, St. Louis and Chicago in the American League were not scheduled.

Police-Cordts Hose Baseball Lineups Point Up Prospects for Slam-Bang Contest on August 29

On the basis of lineups submitted by the rival managers—Lennie Ellsworth of the Police nine and Ray Radel and Jake Senor of Cordts Hose—the annual service baseball clash on Wednesday, Aug. 29, will make the battle of Bull Run seem like a tea party.

Messrs. Radel and Senor hinted strongly today that they are counting on a solid starting lineup with ample reserves to snow under the cops.

Manager Ellsworth was not moved by the preponderance of Cordts Hose players and, in submitting his 11-man roster, quipped:

"We're going to show up with a ball club, not a two-platoon football squad. Anyway, they have so many old guys on that Cordts team, they'll need two in every position before we get through with them."

Ellsworth Starter

Ellsworth nominated himself and George Dougherty as pitchers and a reversible shortstop combination. When Ellsworth is pitching, Dougherty will be at short, and vice-versa.

"There will be no vice-versa," said Ellsworth," whichever one starts will go the route.

The remainder of the police lineup showed Ernie Bartroff, catcher; Guernsey Burger, Jr., 1b; Meyer Levy, 2b; Harold DeGraff, 3b; George Dougherty, ss; Lou Sapp, Jr., Will Hanley and Tom Tomshaw in the outfield.

Sapp will serve in the capacity of field captain.

Cordts Name Ed Bock

The Cordts Board of Strategy includes Rae Radel as manager; Jake Senor, assistant manager; Hank Krum, captain; Dewey Van Buren, coach-pitcher; and Fink McElrath, coach-pitcher.

Eddie Bock and Ray Lindhurst are listed as the probable starting lineup.

The remainder of the roster announced to date includes Charlie Bock, Jimmie Noble, Jimmie McElrath, Herb McElrath, Eddie Schussler, Bill Bruck, Clayton Bruck, Larry Woerner, Freddie Williams.

"We'll have more names and they will be no ringers," Radel added.

News of Cordts expanded roster reached Ellsworth and he said he readily understood it all now.

"I was wondering about Jake Senor as assistant manager," he continued, "now I can appreciate that Ray Radel will need some help working with that small-sized Coxey's army."

Meanwhile, Edward "Chief" Leonard and Earl Schoonmaker have the "big announcement" ready for Wednesday.

Maggiacomo Wins Double Feature

Jocko Maggiacomo won the regular stock car race and the 50-lap "Mad-Cap" feature on Saturday night at the Rhinebeck Speedway.

The "Mad-Cap" victory won for Maggiacomo the Marian Motors Trophy.

The United Stock Car Club's 100-lap mid-season championship postponed from several weeks ago will be staged at the Speedway next Saturday night, Aug. 18.

Baked Southwest Gets More Heat

(By The Associated Press)

The baked southwest had the bad news from the weatherman again today—no relief in sight.

The blistering sun, which shot temperatures past 100 in much of Texas yesterday, continued to beat down.

Fort Worth and Bryan had 105 yesterday. Dallas and Waco reported 104. An Associated Press survey showed at least 24 deaths attributed to the long heat wave.

The east also has been sizzling, with 90 reported in New York yesterday. However, forecasters predicted relief in that area, probably by tonight if not sooner.

Meanwhile cool weather continued to prevail today in the Great Lakes region, upper Mississippi valley and northern great plains.

Expected to Return

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 14 (AP)—About 1,500 telephone operators who walked off their jobs because of hot weather were expected back at work today—but Texas weather showed no signs of cooling off.

The phone girls, plus some plant workers, walked out yesterday in Dallas demanding air conditioning at two big southwestern Bell Telephone Company buildings. The CIO Communications Workers of America Union said the strike was not authorized.

The Dallas maximum yesterday was 104 degrees.

The company has attempted since last Wednesday to cool the operators and workers with big fans blowing over washtubs of ice. The girls said the cooling attempt was ingenious but unsuccessful.

Publication Is Banned

Tokyo, Aug. 14 (AP)—The attorney general's office today banned publication of 20 Communist newspapers, bringing to 1,756 the number of Red journals suspended since July, 1950.

Cleveland's onrushing Indians continue to whiz by all opposition as the "Lopez Limited" speeds steadily toward its destination—Pennantville.

No wonder the Indians, led by Manager Al Lopez, are talking pennant today. They never were so well off.

The Tribe won again last night, defeating Detroit, 2-1. Here is what the victory meant to the Indians.

It increased their first place margin over the runnerup New York Yankees in the American League to two and a half games as Philadelphia shellacked the Bronxites for the third straight time, 16-8.

It stretched the Tribe's winning streak to 11 straight, only two short of the club's all-time record of 13 accomplished in 1942.

It marked the 19th triumph for Bob Feller, who celebrated a "night" in his honor by limiting the Tigers to seven hits.

It was the eighth consecutive complete job by a Cleveland hurler and it was the 12th straight game the Indians held their opposition to four or less runs. It also was Cleveland's 14th win in 15 meetings with Detroit.

Want 5-Game Lead

"We're on our way," said Lopez. "I don't see how anyone can stop us now.

"If we can build up a lead of five games during our coming home stay against the east, we're in. We're getting great pitching and timely hitting. Ray Boone and Bobby Avila have been splendid at short and third and Al Rosen has been helping us with those home runs."

It was a homer by Rosen—his 20th—that proved the difference last night. It came in the fourth inning and snapped a scoreless duel between Feller and Marlin Stuart. A Detroit error, Feller's bloop single, a sacrifice and Avila's fly gave Cleveland an unearned run in the fifth. Singles by Jerry Priddy and Dick Kryhoski and George Kell's forceout produced the Tiger run in the eighth.

"We're in the best shape of the season," said Lopez. "This is a bounce-back ball club. We proved it when after dropping those first two in New York, we came back to win the next one and followed with two out of three victories in Boston.

"That was the turning point for us."

Hodges Homers

A three-run homer by Gil Hodges in the eighth inning gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 7-6 victory over Boston's Braves and left their 12½ first place margin intact. The runner-up New York Giants won their third straight from Philadelphia's Phils, 5-2.

Cincinnati swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 2-0 and 7-1 while Chicago's Cubs upset the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-3.

Hodges' homer was his 33rd of the season and the 100th of his big league career. Carl Erskine was credited with his 13th victory but needed relief from Clyde King in the ninth.

Whitey Lockman cracked a three-run homer in the first inning off Bubba Church and that was all Larry Jansen needed to record his 15th triumph for the Giants.

Howie Fox blanked the Bucs on five hits in the opener and helped his cause with a homer. Ewell Blackwell had a one-hitter until the ninth of the nightcap. It was Blackie's 12th win.

Boston, Washington, St. Louis and Chicago in the American League were not scheduled.

Two-Minute Mile For Illinois Trotter

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 14 (AP)—Sampson Hanover, unbeaten 4-as a trotter last year, today year-old pacer which was a flop owned the first two-minute mile of 1951 on an Illinois harness racing track.

Sampson Hanover, owned by K. D. Owen of Houston, Tex., yesterday romped to a first heat victory in 2:00 in the Senator Lantz 2:24 pace at the Illinois State Fair. He then copped the second heat from a field of seven in 2:02. The driver was Frank Ervin.

In the co-feature, Henry J. Knauf Memorial 2:24 trot, Alama B, owned by A. C. Beardslee of Arcade, N. Y., won a split heat decision, taking the first and third miles with August Born's Single Spud the winner of the second heat.

Stop Giants, 7-0; Ronnie Takes Lead

That old Yankee formula exploded again in the Little League yesterday.

Unbeaten Tony Turck racked up his sixth straight pitching triumph and Ronnie Ashdown blasted two home runs to help the Yankees to a 7 to 0 victory over the Giants.

Ashdown's two homers gave him the circuit leadership with six. Joe Hoffman is the runnerup with five.

Turck fashioned the second shutout of the season as he allowed only two hits and fanned nine. Seymour Semilof, also of the Yankees, owns the other shutout job.

The Yankees collected seven hits off Joe Reynolds, who fanned six.

Ashdown pounded his first homer over the centerfield fence behind Tony Turck's double to give the Yankees a 2-0 edge in the first inning.

Scoring Rallies

Gene Nagele walked, Paul Klonowski doubled and the two runners scored on an infield out and wild pitch to make it 4-0 in the second. Ashdown conked his second homer of the game over the right center field fence in the third and the Yankees picked up two more runs in the fourth. Walks to Paul Klonowski and Victor Locke and Ronnie Quarantino's infield loaded the sacks. Klonowski scored on an error by Red Amato and Ashdown singled Quarantino home with the seventh run of the game.

Ashdown collected three of the seven Yankee safeties, bagging a double in addition to the homers. John Schoonmaker and George Norton collected the only hits off Turck, both singles.

The Little Leaguers resume an intensified schedule this evening. Games are scheduled every day this week with a doubleheader set for Saturday at 3:30 p. m.

An exhibition game with the American All Stars of Poughkeepsie who eliminated the KAAs in Newburgh last week has been scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 21, at St. Mary's Field.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

San Francisco—Grant Butcher, 188, San Francisco, outpointed Andy Walker, 195, San Francisco (12).

Newark, N. J.—Ralph Giordano, 139, Newark, outpointed Basil Marie 134¾, Philadelphia (8).

Curling, a national Scottish game, was introduced in the 16th century from the low countries.

On the basis of lineups submitted by the rival managers—Lennie Ellsworth of the Police nine and Ray Radel and Jake Senor of Cordts Hose—the annual service baseball clash on Wednesday, Aug. 29, will make the battle of Bull Run seem like a tea party.

Messrs. Radel and Senor hinted strongly today that they are counting on a solid starting line-up with ample reserves to snow under the cops.

Manager Ellsworth was not moved by the preponderance of Cordts Hose players and, in submitting his 11-man roster, quipped:

"We're going to show up with a ball club, not a two-platoon football squad. Anyway, they have so many old guys on that Cordts team, they'll need two in every position before we get through with them."

Ellsworth Starter

Ellsworth nominated himself and George Dougherty as pitchers and a reversible shortstop combination. When Ellsworth is pitching, Dougherty will be at short, and vice-versa.

"There will be no vice-versa," said Ellsworth," whichever one starts will go the route.

The remainder of the police lineup showed Ernie Bartroff, catcher; Guernsey Burger, Jr., 1b; Meyer Levy, 2b; Harold DeGraff, 3b; George Dougherty, ss; Lou Sapp, Jr., Will Hanley and Tom Tomshaw in the outfield.

Sapp will serve in the capacity of field captain.

Cordts Name Ed Bock

The Cordts Board of Strategy includes Rae Radel as manager; Jake Senor, assistant manager; Hank Krum, captain; Dewey Van Buren, coach-pitcher; and Fink McElrath, coach-pitcher.

Eddie Bock and Ray Lindhurst are listed as the probable starting lineup.

The remainder of the roster announced to date includes Charlie Bock, Jimmie Noble, Jimmie McElrath, Herb McElrath, Eddie Schussler, Bill Bruck, Clayton Bruck, Larry Woerner, Freddie Williams.

"We'll have more names and they will be no ringers," Radel added.

News of Cordts expanded roster reached Ellsworth and he said he readily understood it all now.

"I was wondering about Jake Senor as assistant manager," he continued, "now I can appreciate that Ray Radel will need some help working with that small-sized Coxey's army."

Meanwhile, Edward "Chief" Leonard and Earl Schoonmaker have the "big announcement" ready for Wednesday.

Maggiacomo Wins Double Feature

The "Mad-Cap" victory won for Maggiacomo the Marian Motors Trophy.

The United Stock Car Club's 100-lap mid-season championship postponed from several weeks ago will be staged at the Speedway next Saturday night, Aug. 18.

Baked Southwest Gets More Heat

(By The Associated Press)

The baked southwest had the bad news from the weatherman again today—no relief in sight.

The blistering sun, which shot temperatures past 100 in much of Texas yesterday, continued to beat down.

Fort Worth and Bryan had 105 yesterday. Dallas and Waco reported 104. An Associated Press survey showed at least 24 deaths attributed to the long heat wave.

The east also has been sizzling, with 90 reported in New York yesterday. However, forecasters predicted relief in that area, probably by tonight if not sooner.

Meanwhile cool weather continued to prevail today in the Great Lakes region, upper Mississippi valley and northern great plains.

Expected to Return

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 14 (AP)—About 1,500 telephone operators who walked off their jobs because of hot weather were expected back at work today—but Texas weather showed no signs of cooling off.

The phone girls, plus some plant workers, walked out yesterday in Dallas demanding air conditioning at two big southwestern Bell Telephone Company buildings. The CIO Communications Workers of America Union said the strike was not authorized.

The Dallas maximum yesterday was 104 degrees.

The company has attempted since last Wednesday to cool the operators and workers with big fans blowing over washtubs of ice. The girls said the cooling attempt was ingenious but unsuccessful.

Publication Is Banned

Tokyo, Aug. 14 (AP)—The attorney general's office today banned publication of 20 Communist newspapers, bringing to 1,736 the number of Red journals suspended since July, 1950.

Halt in Plan Ordered

Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—The government has ordered a 60-day halt in its tax relief program for new and expanded defense plants because of "extremely tight" supply of critical building materials. Supply shortages have virtually ruled out all but the most urgent projects in the next few months ahead, Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson said yesterday in announcing the 60-day moratorium. The halt takes effect Aug. 18. It will suspend the issuance of government permits to defense contractors to write off the cost of their new or expanded plants in only five years for tax purposes.

Vital Industry

Weaving was so important to Great Britain that Edward III in about 1350 ordered the Lord Chancellor to "sit on a woolsack" as a reminder, a custom which prevails to this day.

Tillson Resident To Go to Arabia

Rudolph R. Borneman of Tillson has been appointed a very high frequency technician for the Arabian-American Oil Company and will leave Saturday for a two-year tour of duty in Saudi Arabia.

Borneman, a Tillson resident about five years, formerly was shop foreman for Ben Ray Television Distributors, New York. He spent four years in the army, with service in New Guinea and the Philippine Islands as radio engineer for the Armed Forces Network and as radar repairman for the Signal Corps. His wife and two boys will remain in Tillson during his absence.

Henry Announces Split With Macy

Babylon, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Suffolk County District Attorney Lindsay R. Henry, heretofore one of the staunchest supporters of County Chairman W. Kingsland Macy, said today he had split with the veteran GOP leader.

Henry said he and Macy had a disagreement last Friday night when he (Henry) proposed former County Surrogate Richard W. Hawkins as a compromise candidate for county chairman.

Macy and County Clerk R. Ford Hughes will battle for the leadership in the Aug. 21 primary when more than 400 committeemen will be elected.

Henry said that Macy ordered him to leave the Macy home during the argument.

Henry said he had written Macy that "after your thoroughly unjustified and malicious treatment of me . . . I cannot continue to support your candidacy for the chairmanship of the Suffolk county committee."

British Note Ignored

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—A Foreign Office spokesman said last night Britain has dropped the idea of sending eight warships on a good will call to Alexandria because Egypt has ignored a British note suggesting such a visit. Anglo-Egyptian relations have deteriorated in the past few years, largely because the two nations cannot agree on revision of their 20-year defense pact. Egypt wants British troops to get out of Egypt, but Britain has insisted on keeping her military garrisons in the Suez Canal Zone because of the tense international situation.

Two Are Injured

Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 14—An army pilot and his pupil were injured yesterday when their plane crashed on this northern New York cantonment. Camp officials said Lt. Joseph M. Wells, the pilot, suffered a possible fracture of the skull. Capt. Joseph W. Kilkenny, of 32 Circle Lane, Levitown, L. I., suffered back injuries. A hospital reported their conditions were good. The men were practicing landings and takeoffs when the accident occurred. The plane was not badly damaged.
